This fund finances the payment of claims on nonparticipating insurance policies issued to veterans with service-connected disabilities which make them ineligible for commercial insurance (38 U.S.C. 722). Administrative expenses are paid from the appropriation General operating expenses.

Budget program—1. Death claims.—Payments to surviving beneficiaries continue to increase as new deaths occur among the increasing number of policyholders.

3. Cash surrenders.—A policyholder may terminate his insurance by cashing in his policy for its cash value.

4. Policy loans made.—A policyholder may borrow up to 94% of the cash value of his policy. This activity increases with the increased number of policyholders.

The general increase in the activity of this fund is indicated in the following table (dollars in thousands):

	June 30, 1960	June 30, 1961	June 30, 1962	June 30, 1963

Insurance in force.....	$381,137	$407,738	$437,550	$472,554

Financing.—Operations are financed from premiums and other receipts. Additional funds are derived from the appropriation Veterans insurance and indemnities, instead of direct appropriations to this fund. It is estimated that the payment will be $1.5 million in 1963.

Operating results and financial condition.—Because premium and other receipts continue to be insufficient to cover operations, the deficit is expected to continue to increase with capital impairment reaching an estimated $26.4 million by June 30, 1963.

The capital of the fund consists of $4,500 thousand—$3,500 thousand appropriated directly in 1952, 1956–58, and $1,000 thousand transferred from the Readjustment benefits appropriation in 1954.

The fund finances claims arising from the guarantee of premiums due on commercial life insurance policies held by servicemen while they are in service and for 2 years after discharge (72 Stat. 487). The Government guarantees the repayment of any indebtedness not liquidated by the insured himself. Any payment by the Government on cases approved subsequent to Oct. 6, 1942, creates a debt owed the Government by the insured. The Supreme Court has ruled that, in cases approved prior to Oct. 6, 1942, the insured individuals may make claims for refunds of any payments made to the Government because of alleged indebtedness.

Budget program—Insurance program.—Claims paid on guaranteed premiums are made to commercial insurance companies in cases where the servicemen failed to make premium payments which were guaranteed by the Government.

The activity of the fund is indicated in the following table:

	1961 actual	1962 estimate	1963 estimate
Number of settlements.....	7	20	30
Number of refunds.....	335
Average cost per settlement.....	$535	$400	$400
Average cost per refund.....	$204

Financing.—Payment of claims against this fund are financed from collection of claims receivable, revenue, and appropriations as needed.

Operating results and financial condition.—The payment of refund claims has created expenses substantially in excess of the small revenue of the fund, thereby increasing the deficit to $1.9 million in 1961.

The fund finances the payment of claims on nonparticipating insurance policies issued before January 1, 1957, to veterans who served in the Armed Forces subsequent to April 1951 (38 U.S.C. 723). Under Public Law 85-896, policyholders were given the right to convert to a permanent plan of insurance or to a new form of term insurance which may not be renewed beyond age 50 but which costs less than unlimited term insurance. Those who converted to a permanent plan also acquired the right to purchase total disability income coverage with an additional premium.

Through the years, the fund has accumulated a surplus in excess of its anticipated liabilities. Public Law 87-223 provides for a one-time distribution of this surplus by payment of a special dividend to policyholders whose insurance was in force during one of premium months November 1960, December 1960, or January 1961 if they have a permanent or limited term plan or convert from unlimited term to permanent or limited term before September 14, 1963. The dividend will also be paid on unlimited term policies which mature by death on or after the November 1960 premium due date and before September 1963.

Budget program—1. Death claims.—Payments to surviving beneficiaries continue to increase as new deaths occur among policyholders.

2. Disability claims.—Payments to individuals who have purchased total disability coverage and who subsequently become totally disabled began in 1960.

4. Dividends.—Payments will begin in 1962 and will continue through 1963.

6. Policy loans made.—The policyholders who converted their insurance from term to permanent plan were subsequently entitled to borrow up to 94% of the cash value of the new policy. Disbursement of such loans from this fund increased from $50 thousand in 1960 to $331 thousand in 1961.

The general decrease in the activity of this fund is indicated in the following table (dollars in thousands):

	June 30, 1960	June 30, 1961	June 30, 1962	June 30, 1963
Number of policies...	664,121	658,853	637,000	625,000
Insurance in force...	$5,896,007	$5,842,933	$5,655,286	$5,548,750

Financing.—Payments from this fund are financed primarily from premium receipts and interest on investments.

Operating results and financial condition.—Favorable mortality experience on insurance written against this fund has kept death claims payments well below the amount of premium and interest receipts, thereby producing an annual increase in the retained earnings of the fund. The retaining earnings are being reduced by the special dividend and any further excess will be transferred to the general fund of the Treasury.

The Supply fund finances, on a reimbursable basis, the procurement of supplies and equipment throughout the Veterans Administration in accordance with the provisions of 38 U.S.C. 5011, and nonperishable subsistence and drugs for all civilian agencies.

Budget program—1. Procurement, distribution, and services program.—This includes the procurement of supplies and equipment, the operation of service and reclamation shops at each of the three supply depots, and a centralized book and periodical procurement activity at Somerville, N.J.

On July 1, 1961, the fund began financing the three supply depots as an integral part of the Veterans Administration supply fund program. The 1962 and 1963 estimates therefor include amounts for salaries and other operating costs and the acquisition and depreciation of operating equipment. The three supply depots are located at Somerville, N.J.; Hines, Ill.; and Wilmington, Calif.

The Veterans Administration has been designated as the Government's purchasing and distribution agent for nonperishable subsistence and drugs required by the civilian agencies. Contracting and purchasing of these commodities began in the latter part of 1961.

Expenditures and revenue for the procurement, distribution and services program are estimated to be $161,961 thousand in 1963.

Personal services and other costs incidental to the operation and administration of supply activities in the Veterans Administration central office and field organizations are charged directly to applicable appropriations and are not an operating expense of the supply fund.

2. Publications and reproduction program.—This program provides printing service to Veterans Administration installations on a centralized basis. Printed matter is acquired in accordance with the rules of the Joint Committee on Printing from the Government Printing Office, the General Services Administration, a Veterans Administration-operated plant in Arlington, Va., and from commercial sources. Expense and revenue in 1963 are estimated at $3,109 thousand.

Financing.—Consuming appropriations reimburse the fund for the cost of supplies and equipment provided and services rendered by the above specified activities, including related expense such as transportation, inspection, and testing. Costs related to financing supply depot operations through the fund in 1962 and 1963 will be recovered from the appropriations and funds receiving supplies and equipment from the supply depots.

Operating results and financial condition.—The fund operated at a loss of $29 thousand in 1961. Net profit of $127 thousand at the end of 1960 was returned to the Treasury in 1961. It is expected that the Supply fund will break even in 1963. An increase in capital of $367 thousand is reflected in 1962 due to capitalization of supply depot operating equipment on hand July 1, 1961.

Representatives of the Federal, State, and local governments are brought together for consideration of common problems, and to provide a forum for discussing the administration and coordination of Federal grant and other programs requiring intergovernmental cooperation.

Proposed Federal and State legislative and administrative programs are developed to coordinate taxes at all levels in order to reduce tax overlapping and simplify the tax structure, and to reduce taxpayer-compliance costs and costs of tax administration.

Technical assistance is provided in the review of proposed legislation to determine its overall effect in the Federal system, and the most desirable allocations of governmental functions, responsibilities, and revenue among the several levels of government are recommended.

The American Battle Monuments Commission maintains World War I and World War II American military cemeteries in foreign countries and memorials in the war areas to commemorate the participation of the American Armed Forces. There are 11 memorials and 8 cemeteries, each with a memorial chapel, at World War I sites, and 14 cemeteries and memorials at World War II sites. Interred in these cemeteries are the remains of 124,070 servicemen and women; an additional 91,511 missing and unidentified are commemorated by memorial structures inscribed with their names. In addition, the Commission maintains the U.S. National Cemetery, Mexico City, Mexico, and the Santiago, Cuba, Surrender Tree Site. Each year large numbers of American tourists and local citizens visit these cemeteries and memorials.

The Commission is responsible also for planning and construction of military memorials and the appropriation includes funds for the preliminary plans for a proposed memorial on Guam. The program of construction of World War II cemeteries and memorials, financed under a separate appropriation that expires as of June 30, 1962, will be completed during 1963. There are two memorials, located at New York and Honolulu, to be dedicated, the last of which will be dedicated in 1963.

The Board regulates the economic aspects of air carrier operations, both domestic and international; investigates aircraft accidents; participates in the development of international air transportation; and participates in the development of safety rules and standards. The increase proposed for 1963 is for expansion in certain critical program areas, primarily in the routes, rates and safety areas.

1. Economic regulation.—This includes granting certificates of public convenience and necessity, prescribing or approving rates and rate practices of air carriers, fixing mail rate compensation, prevention of unfair competition, approval of business relationships between air carriers, and adjudication of complaints alleging violations of civil air regulations.

2. Safety activities.—These consist of the investigation and the determination of probable cause of civil aircraft accidents and the investigation of potential hazards and recommendation of preventive measures to avoid accidents in the future.

3. Board adjudication, executive and legal staff activities.—In addition to adjudication of cases, program planning, and top policy and decision making functions of the Board, legal advice and assistance is provided on all aspects of economic, regulatory, and safety activities; opinions of the Board are prepared; and litigation matters are handled.

The Board fixes rates for transportation of airmail to promote the development of air transportation required for the commerce of the United States, the postal service, and the national defense. Many of these rates include an element of subsidy. The subsidy portion is paid by the Civil Aeronautics Board, and the service portion is paid by the Post Office Department.

The obligations shown above, less the obligated balances recovered, reflect the amounts recorded each year as due the air carriers. These sums cover services performed during the year, computed at rates then in effect, plus or minus such adjustments as are needed to reflect the issuance, during the year, of rate orders affecting prior years. Approximately 1 to 2 months of obligations are due but unpaid at the end of any year.

The following table reflects the estimated amounts becoming due finally for each year, together with the adjustments between years (in thousands of dollars):

Appointments through such competitive examinations will accord career or career-conditional status. Physically handicapped persons are given special placement attention. Veterans are aided in securing the benefits to which they are entitled.

This appropriation is used (1) to cover the Government's share of the cost of health insurance for employees who were retired when the Retired Federal Employees Health Benefits Act became effective; and (2) to cover the Government's contribution for administrative expenses of the Commission. There was no limit on administrative expenses in 1961 and 1962 when this program was being established. Beginning in 1963, however, the Government's share of administrative expenses is limited to 2% of its contribution.

The use of these funds is reflected in the schedules for the Retired employees health benefits fund.

Payment of increased benefits which certain civil service annuitants have received since 1958, is no longer dependent on the requirement that funds be provided by an annual appropriation covering the cost of such benefits. Accordingly, rescission of the 1962 appropriation is proposed for separate transmittal.

No amount is included in the 1963 estimates for payment to the Fund beyond the Government's contribution which matches employee deductions. Legislation has been proposed to provide a long-range basis for financing the system.

The Export-Import Bank of Washington facilitates and assists in financing U.S. foreign trade. To do this it participates in or guarantees credits extended by U.S. exporters, commercial banks, and other financial institutions to foreign purchasers of exports from the United States, and also makes direct loans to finance U.S. exports. In addition, the Bank insures against risks of war and expropriation certain exports held abroad on consignment awaiting sale. The total amount of dollar loans, guarantees, and insurance which the Bank may have outstanding at one time is $7 billion (12 U.S.C. 635).

The Bank's policy is to extend credit only when private capital is unavailable, and to encourage private participation in the credits extended. Loans generally are made only for specific purposes or projects. No loan is made unless the directors believe it has reasonable assurance of repayment.

Development project loans.—A major portion of the Bank's assistance for the exportation of U.S. materials, equipment, and services is in the form of medium and longer term credits for projects abroad. These loans not only finance export sales, but help lay the foundation for expanded future trade through strengthening foreign economies. The $650 million authorized by the Bank in 1961 for U.S. equipment purchases in connection with overseas projects represented an all-time high.

Exporter loans.—In conformity with the program for increasing the volume of U.S. export trade, the Bank's medium term (1 to 5 years) loan and guarantee field was broadened to include items of U.S. manufacture not previously financed or guaranteed. Consumer durable goods, semifinished products and oil industry equipment were declared eligible, in addition to the capital equipment formerly financed. Medium term political risk guarantees as well as comprehensive guarantees including commercial credit risks are available to exporters.

In its program of short term political risk guarantees, 162 U.S. commercial banks and export credit insurance companies have been authorized by the Bank to execute such guarantees covering export shipments as its issuing agents. There were in force as of June 30, 1961, 244 one-year guarantee contracts issued to U.S. exporters covering a potential export volume of $144.2 million. Actual guaranteed shipments during 1961 numbered approximately 41,322 with a cumulative invoice value of $69.4 million. Nearly every type of commodity sold on short terms was covered.

Credits for the sale of U.S. beef and dairy cattle also have been authorized to Mexico and Latin America.

Emergency foreign trade loans.—From time to time the Bank is called upon to provide financial assistance to meet emergency situations adversely affecting normal trade between the United States and another country. Such loans may take the form of lines of credit to a foreign central bank or other bank or financial institution to provide dollar exchange for a wide range of U.S. exports; credits to fund commercial arrearages resulting from dollar exchange difficulties so that normal trade may be resumed; or credits to assist in financing purchases in the United States required for reconstruction abroad following a national disaster.

Delinquent loans.—Delinquent installments on loans made by the Bank fall into three categories: those on project loans which are in serious and protracted default; those on project loans which are delinquent because of exchange difficulties and understandable business delays; and those on exporter medium term credits posted as delinquent because of any of the above situations.

Fourteen project loans were in default as of June 30, 1961, of which the total outstanding principal amounted to $130.1 million with overdue installments of principal and interest amounting to approximately $38 million. The principal arrearage comprises loans made to the Republic of China in 1946 when the seat of government was on the mainland. At the close of the year, negotiations were underway looking toward the resumption of payments of principal and interest on portions of these loans applicable to equipment and materials taken to Taiwan.

Total outstanding principal was $25.3 million in the case of the exporter credit delinquencies, with overdue installments of principal and interest amounting to $3.5 million. The great majority of the credits involved were to purchasers of U.S. equipment in Brazil, and installments on the credits are in process of being rescheduled in connection with agreements made with the Brazilian Government in May, 1961.

Insurance.—The Bank insures against the risks of war and expropriation certain property of U.S. exporters which is held abroad on consignment awaiting sale. A total of 528 policies were issued by the Bank in 1961 covering cotton and tobacco valued at $18.9 million. It is estimated that policies covering cotton and tobacco to a value of $19 million will be issued in 1963.

Administrative expenses.—To carry out the Bank's lending, collecting, and new guarantee program in fiscal 1963 it is estimated that a limitation of $3 million for administrative expenses is necessary.

Financing.—The Bank is a Government-owned corporation in which the Treasury has invested $1 billion in capital stock. The Board of Directors for 1961 voted an increase to $30 million in the annual dividend from the annual rate of $22.5 million paid for each of the preceding 8 years. Up to $6 billion may be borrowed from the Treasury on a revolving basis. On June 30, 1961, outstanding borrowings from the Treasury were $1,697.9 million. Notes outstanding on June 30, 1963, are expected to be $1,434.3 million. On June 30, 1963, charges against the Bank's lending authority are estimated to be $6,134 million, leaving a margin of $866 million for additional reservations. Because disbursements occur over a period following reservations, it is estimated that the unobligated balance of the Bank's authorization to borrow from the Treasury will be $4,566 million at June 30, 1963.

Operating results and financial condition.—During 1963 the net income of the Bank is expected to amount to $114 million. The budget provides for continuation of dividends to the Treasury of $30 million annually through 1963 to reimburse the Treasury for the approximate interest cost on the investment in the Bank's capital stock. The remaining earnings are retained to meet future contingencies. Total equity of the Government in the corporation is expected to be $3,306 million at June 30, 1963, consisting of $1 billion in capital stock, $1,434 million of borrowings from the Treasury, and $872 million of retained earnings available for future contingencies.

This corporation was abolished October 4, 1961, by 75 Stat. 773, and its remaining assets were transferred to the Secretary of the Treasury.

The corporation has been in liquidation for several years, its only remaining activity being the collection of non-interest-bearing notes sold to the Federal land banks on June 30, 1955, and paying the proceeds as dividends to the Treasury. Its mineral interests, effective September 5, 1957, were transferred to the Department of the Interior pursuant to 7 U.S.C. 1033 et seq., approved September 6, 1950.

Operating results.—The corporation has paid dividends to the Treasury in the amount of $145,900 thousand, starting July 28, 1948.

As required by 75 Stat. 773, the following balances were transferred to the Secretary of the Treasury on October 4, 1961: Cash balance $298 thousand; notes receivable, $1,525 thousand; interest payable on outstanding matured bonds, $39 thousand; matured bonds held by public, $174 thousand; and retained earnings (total Government equity), $1,611 thousand.

This fund is available to the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration as a revolving fund for investment in capital stock of the Federal intermediate credit banks and the production credit associations. Prior to October 3, 1961, there were separate investment funds for the Federal intermediate credit banks and the production credit associations, however, these funds were merged by section 2(f) of Public Law 87-343.

1. Federal intermediate credit banks.—Funds will be required in 1962 and 1963 for investment in class A stock of the banks. An estimate of $5 million net investment is made for 1962 and 1963. The estimate of requirements is based on recent projections made by the 12 intermediate credit banks which indicate that several of the banks will need additional capital in order to keep their debt-to-capital ratios within the 10 to 1 maximum permitted by law.

2. Production credit associations.—An estimate for purchase of stock in production credit associations of $3 million is made for 1962 and $2.5 million for 1963. The need arises primarily because the volume of business of associations is increasing more rapidly than necessary net worth can be accumulated from local sources.

Financing.—At the end of 1962 it is estimated that $3,330 thousand will be invested in the production credit associations and $28,650 thousand in the Federal intermediate credit banks. An additional $2 million net investment in the associations and $5 million in the banks is expected in 1963.

The provisions of section 105(d)(3) of the Farm Credit Act of 1956, which heretofore applied to the Federal intermediate credit banks investment fund is applicable to the combined fund. This section provides that of the $87,405 thousand class A stock of the credit banks outstanding on January 1, 1957, $57,405 thousand must be retired by payments into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. When the balance is reduced to $30 million, the remaining proceeds from retirement of such stock will be credited to the combined revolving fund.

This fund is available to the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration for investments in class A capital stock of the banks for cooperatives (12 U.S.C. 1134).

The fund was created with $500 million capital in 1929. The capital had been reduced to $169,969 thousand by June 30, 1953, by writeoffs as follows (in thousands of dollars):

Losses:
On Red Cross donations.....	197,385
On assets acquired under Agricultural Adjustment Act.....	46,306
On stabilization loans.....	85,551
On drought relief loans.....	789
Total	330,031

The total Government equity of the fund was $185,918 thousand at June 30, 1961. Proposed legislation provides that the Government equity will be reduced to $150,000 thousand.

Budget program.—No new subscriptions of capital stock are anticipated and stock will be retired by the banks for cooperatives in accordance with section 42(a)(1) of the Farm Credit Act of 1933, as amended.

Operating results and financial condition.—Investment in capital stock will continue to be reduced through 1963, thereby increasing the cash of the fund. Earnings are retained to provide for the future purchase of stock.

MIXED-OWNERSHIP CORPORATIONS

BANKS FOR COOPERATIVES

The banks for cooperatives make loans to finance the operations of farmers' cooperatives. The banks' capital funds are from the Banks for cooperatives investment fund and from borrowing farmers' cooperative associations (12 U.S.C. 1134). The Farm Credit Act of 1955 provides for eventual ownership of the banks by farmers' cooperatives and the retirement of the U.S. Government investment.

No new subscriptions of capital stock are anticipated and stock will be retired by the banks for cooperatives in accordance with the Act. Repayments of $11,470 thousand have been made for 1962, and it is estimated that $10 million will be retired in 1963. As of June 30, 1961, the U.S. Government owned capital stock in the banks in the amount of $118,287 thousand.

FEDERAL INTERMEDIATE CREDIT BANKS

The Federal intermediate credit banks serve as banks of discount for agriculture, discounting agricultural and livestock paper for local financing institutions, such as production credit associations, agricultural credit corporations, livestock loan companies, and commercial banks, and making loans to them on the security of such paper, and providing the production credit associations with necessary supervision and services. The banks were originally wholly owned Government corporations set up to serve exclusively as banks of discount; however, pursuant to the act of 1956 the banks became mixed-ownership corporations and were made responsible for supervising and assisting the production credit associations to enable them to make sound credit available to farmers.

All of the capital stock of the Federal intermediate credit banks from organization in 1923 to December 31, 1956, was held by the U.S. Government. The 1956 act provided a long-range plan for the acquisition of credit bank stock by production credit associations and the gradual retirement of the Government's investment in the banks. However, in the last few years the banks have been called upon to provide associations with substantially more funds to finance the short-term needs of farmers and it has been necessary for the Federal Government to invest additional capital in the banks in order to keep the debt-to-capital ratios within the 10 to 1 maximum permitted by law. These funds have been obtained from the Federal intermediate credit banks investment fund which was authorized in the 1956 act.

The Corporation insures accounts of depositors in insured banks up to $10 thousand for each depositor. As of June 30, 1961, the deposit insurance fund for the protection of depositors amounted to $2.29 billion or approximately 1.5% of all insured deposits on that date. Total insured deposits at the end of fiscal years 1960 and 1961, estimated on the basis of information furnished as of June 15, 1960, and June 30, 1961, amounted to $140 billion and $152.8 billion, respectively. It is estimated that total insured deposits as of June 30, 1962 and 1963 will amount to $160 billion and $169 billion, respectively. No tax funds are used in its operations. Its expenses are paid and the fund is accumulated from assessments paid by insured banks and from income on investments in obligations of the Treasury. However, the Corporation is authorized to borrow from the Treasury, and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to loan to the Corporation on such terms as may be fixed by the Corporation and the Secretary, not to exceed $3 billion outstanding at any one time, as required for insurance purposes. No borrowings under this authorization have been made to date and none are anticipated in 1962 or 1963.

CORPORATIONS

The following corporations and agencies, respectively, are hereby authorized to make such expenditures, within the limits of funds and borrowing authority available to each such corporation or agency and in accord with law, and to make such contracts and commitments without regard to fiscal year limitations as provided by section 104 of the Government Corporation Control Act, as amended, as may be necessary in carrying out the programs set forth in the Budget for the fiscal year 1962 for each such corporation or agency, except as hereinafter provided: (Independent Offices Appropriation Act, 1962.)

FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK BOARD

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board formulates policies and supervises the operations of the 11 Federal home loan banks, the system of Federal Savings and Loan Associations and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation; it is also responsible for the examination and supervision of all State-chartered institutions insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Public Law 87-141, approved Aug. 17, 1961, provides that expenses of any functions of supervision (except of Federal home loan banks) vested in or exercisable by the Board shall be considered as nonadministrative expenses.

The administrative expenses of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board are paid from assessments against the 11 Federal home loan banks, the office of examinations and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Budget program.—The Board's budget is based on six activities.

1. Examination and supervision of Federal home loan banks.—The Board supervises and examines the operations of the Federal home loan banks.

2. Supervision of Federal and State-chartered institutions.—The financial condition and operations of each insured institution are analyzed and corrective action is instituted when warranted. Supervision of insured institutions operating under State charter is carried on, cooperatively, under arrangements made with the respective State authorities.

3. Chartering savings and loan associations.—Federal savings and loan associations are chartered and regulated.

In addition, applications of State-chartered associations for conversion into Federal savings and loan associations are examined.

4. Examining savings and loan associations.—Supervisory examinations are made of Federal savings and loan associations, State-chartered associations insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, and such uninsured member institutions of the Federal home loan bank system as are not examined by State examiners. Audits are also made of approximately 64% of all insured institutions in conjunction with supervisory examinations. Examinations are also made of institutions applying for insurance of accounts and for conversion from a State to a Federal charter when required by the Board. The costs of examinations and audits are assessed against the institutions examined.

5. Executive direction and staff services.—This includes formulation of basic policy and the furnishing of staff services that are common to the Board and the Insurance Corporation.

6. Administrative services.—These consist of auditing; accounting; budgetary and financial reporting; internal budget control; fiscal organization and management; and general housekeeping and common operating services, including printing and reproduction work.

The amounts shown in the schedules for the above activities include administrative expenses under annual limitation; nonadministrative expenses under a separate limitation; and certain additional expenses not under limitation. Administrative expenses are estimated to increase from $1,865 thousand to $2,075 thousand reflecting staff increases and related costs to meet increased workload. Nonadministrative expenses covering the expenses of examining savings and loan associations are discussed separately below.

The office of examinations under the general direction of the manager of the division conducts regular periodic and special supervisory examinations of all Federal savings and loan associations, of insured State-chartered savings and loan associations, other institutions of the savings and loan type which are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, and of noninsured member institutions of the Federal home loan bank system not subject to State supervision. The office also examines and analyzes the financial condition of institutions which apply for membership in the system, for insurance of accounts, or for conversion from a State to a Federal charter. The institutions examined bear the costs of examination, and the fees charged therefor are calculated to defray all of the operating expenses of the office.

The office of supervision, under the general direction of the manager of the division, is responsible for the supervision of institutions insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. The purpose of such supervision is to prevent the development and continuance of unsafe and unsound financial practices in these institutions and the correction of such practices where found. In carrying out the supervisory function, the office reviews and analyzes the examination reports prepared by the office of examinations.

The Federal home loan banks, together with the building and loan associations and similar institutions which are members of the banks, constitute the Federal home loan bank system and are designed to stabilize and strengthen institutions promoting private thrift and individual home ownership.

The 11 Federal home loan banks obtain their funds from capital stock, issuance of their own obligations, and deposits of member institutions. The capital stock of the banks consists entirely of subscriptions of member institutions. Authority to borrow from the Treasury in the amount of $1 billion is provided in 12 U.S.C. 1431 (64 Stat. 257). No borrowings have been made to date and none is anticipated in 1963.

The Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation is authorized under title IV of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1724 et seq.) to insure savings in all Federal savings and loan associations and in State-chartered institutions of the savings and loan type which apply and qualify for insurance. The protection thus afforded, which insures savers in member associations against financial loss up to a statutory limit of $10 thousand, may be provided through the prevention of default or the payment of insurance to savings account holders in the event of liquidation. The former course of action, which results in complete protection to each investor regardless of the amount in his account, is accomplished by making cash grants or by purchasing all or a part of the association's assets. Also, the Corporation is authorized to make loans to institutions in financial difficulty. Wherever possible, preventive measures are taken to eliminate the necessity of liquidation. However, in the event liquidation is necessary, the Corporation acts as receiver or coreceiver upon request of State authority in cases involving State-chartered institutions.

The Corporation functions under direction of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which provides certain administrative services and conducts the examination and supervision of insured institutions. The expenses of the Board and its staff offices are paid from assessments made on the Corporation, the Federal home loan banks, and the division of examination and supervision.

1. Administrative expenses—(a) Underwriting.—This activity constitutes an analysis and evaluation of the insurance risk in connection with applications submitted pursuant to regulatory requirements. The assets of insured institutions have increased $16.6 billion or 29.8% in the last 2 years. The continuing interest in insurance of accounts on the part of uninsured institutions, plus the anticipated rate of normal growth, will increase the potential liability of the Corporation to an estimated $80.9 billion by June 30, 1963, as compared to $62.7 billion on June 30, 1961.

(b) Prevention of default and payment of insurance.—In carrying out its role of protecting savings in insured savings and loan associations, the Corporation has settled 39 cases since its creation 27 years ago. Total losses to June 30, 1961, have amounted to $5,144 thousand or slightly more than 1% of cumulative gross income. Detailed information with respect to all of the insurance cases is summarized in the following table (dollars in thousands):

Method of settlement	Number of associations	Number of investors	Assets of associations	Loss to corporation
Contribution.....	29	55,037	$57,216	$4,878
Purchase of assets.....	3	15,469	43,332	-43
Receivership.....	7	7,705	9,210	309
Summary.....	39	78,211	109,758	5,144

Since 1955, the Corporation has had only three cases where it has been necessary to give financial assistance to an insured institution. One case was received in 1956, another in 1960. In each of these instances settlement was accomplished by the same method—merger with another insured institution, accompanied by a purchase by the Corporation of certain assets of the institution in difficulty. Each of these actions resulted in complete protection to all shareholders, regardless of the amount in any single account. In the third case, which was still in process at the end of 1961, loans aggregating $45 million were outstanding.

(c) Analysis of operations.—The Corporation maintains a current analysis of the financial condition of member institutions, the flow of savings, and the character and volume of mortgage lending, as well as selective review of geographical or community areas and phases of operations and certain analyses of trends in the field of thrift and home mortgage finance including volume of activity and interest rates of all major types of mortgage lenders.

2. Payments to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board—(a) Services and facilities.—The Corporation will subscribe 42% of the administrative expenses of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in 1963 in return for services and facilities by the Board and staff offices and 47% of the nonadministrative expenses of the office of the manager of the division of examination and supervision and the office of supervision.

(b) Conservatorship, supervisory representative-in-charge, and other.—Represents the Corporation's share of estimated expenses to be incurred by the Board in connection with preparation for or conduct of proceedings under section 407 of the National Housing Act, as amended.

4. Other expenses.—Provides for liquidation and other expenses of the Corporation in connection with the disposition of assets purchased from and loans to insured institutions to prevent default.

Financing.—The original capital of $100 million has been completely repaid to the Treasury, together with an additional $43 million for the use of the funds.

The Corporation has continuing authority to borrow from the Treasury for insurance purposes, with a limitation of $750 million outstanding at any one time. No borrowings under this authorization have ever been made.

The Corporation is further authorized to assess against each insured institution additional premiums for insurance until the amount of such premiums equals the amount of all losses and expenses of the Corporation; except that the total amount so assessed in any one year against any such institution shall not exceed one-eighth of 1% of the total amount of the accounts of its insured members and its creditor obligations.

Operating results and financial condition.—The Corporation is entirely self-supporting and in no one year have its operating expenses amounted to more than 5.3% of total income; in 1961 it amounted 3.0%. Revenue from all sources has been sufficient to meet all insurance losses, operating expenses, return on capital stock, and to establish a reserve for contingencies of $410.0 million as of June 30, 1961. Total revenue since 1934, of $475.3 million, has been applied as follows (dollars in millions):

	Amount	Percent
Expenses.....	$17.2	3.6
Net insurance losses.....	5.1	1.1
Return on capital stock to U.S. Treasury.....	43.0	9.0
Reserve for contingencies.....	410.0	86.3
Total.....	475.3	100.0

Operating expenses (funded) for 1963 is estimated at $2.5 million consisting primarily of administrative expenses of the Corporation of $1.2 million and $1.2 million for services rendered by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Since the time and size of expenditures for the prevention of default and payment of insurance are unpredictable, estimates of these expenditures are omitted from the financial statements.

Net operating income for 1963, which is expected to be increased by $17.8 million or 31.6% above the net operating income for 1961, will be retained by the Corporation to meet future contingencies.

Public Law 87-210, effective Jan. 1, 1962, requires each insured savings and loan association to annually pay to the Corporation an additional premium in the nature of a prepayment at a rate equal to 2% of the increase in savings for the previous calendar year less an amount equal to any requirement for the purchase of Federal Home Loan Bank stock during such period. The law also provides for the crediting of a return on the accumulated prepayments of each insured association at a rate equal to the average realized by the Corporation on its own investment portfolio. It is estimated that prepayments will total $188 million in 1963 compared to $172 million in 1962.

Public Law 87-210 further provides for the establishment of a primary reserve which shall be the general reserve of the Corporation and a secondary reserve to which shall be credited additional premiums. When the sum of these two reserves equals 2% of total savings plus creditor obligations, the prepayments will cease and the Corporation will commence transferring the secondary reserve to the primary reserve by crediting each insured association's accumulated prepayments to its regular premium liability. If the aggregate of the two reserves drops to below 1.75%, the prepayments and the cash payment of the regular premium will be resumed and continued until the 2% ratio is again reached. It is estimated that the aggregate of the primary and secondary reserves will reach $915.8 million by June 30, 1963, or 1.1% of estimated savings and creditor obligations totaling $84.7 billion.

The Corporation is also required by law to accumulate a primary reserve (as of the close of any Dec. 31) equal to 2% of the total amount of all accounts of insured members and creditor obligations of all insured institutions before collection of premiums may be discontinued, provided, however, that each insured institution has paid regular premiums for at least 20 years. It is estimated that the primary reserve will reach $549 million by June 30, 1963, or .65% of estimated savings and creditor obligations totaling $84.7 billion.

The Federal Maritime Commission, an independent agency established on August 12, 1961, pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 7 of 1961, is charged with regulatory responsibilities under various statutes. The major functions are: (a) regulation of rates, fares, services, tariffs, practices, and agreements of common carriers by water; (b) promulgation of regulations affecting shipping in the foreign trade to meet unfavorable conditions and the approval, suspension, modification, or annulment of regulations of other Federal agencies affecting shipping in the foreign trade; and (c) investigation of discriminatory rates, charges, classifications, and practices in the foreign trade, and recommending legislation to correct such discrimination.

Upon its establishment, funds were transferred to the Commission from the appropriation Salaries and expenses, maritime activities. A supplemental request is anticipated for separate transmittal to meet the additional 1962 requirements of (75 Stat. 522) and (75 Stat. 762), approved September 19 and October 3, 1961, relating to licensing ocean freight forwarders, and regulation of dual rate contracts, conference agreements, and tariff filing.

1. Non-Federal hydroelectric projects.—Licenses are issued for hydroelectric projects affecting public lands and streams subject to Federal jurisdiction; construction and operation of projects are inspected; and cost of construction is determined for projects under license to private interests. Pertinent data are:

Description	1961 actual	1962 estimate	1963 estimate

Annual receipts from licenses (in thousands)	$1,933	$2,131	$2,074

2. Electric power industry.—Regulation covers the transmission and sale for resale of electric energy in interstate commerce and the rates, accounts, depreciation practices, certain security issues, disposition of properties, mergers, and the interconnection and coordination of facilities of those public utilities subject to the Commission's jurisdiction. Statistics about the electric utility industry are gathered and published. Pertinent data are:

Description	1960 actual	1961 estimate	1962 estimate
Number of public utilities regulated	190	195	195
Operating revenues of regulated utilities (in millions)	$7,500	$7,900	$8,500
Number of utilities reporting for statistical purposes	825	825	825
Operating revenues of reporting utilities (in millions)	$11,600	$12,100	$12,750

The Commission will undertake a coordinated national power survey dealing with the most efficient and economical means of supplying electric power loads during the next 20 years from present and potential power resources.

3. Natural gas industry.—Regulation covers the transportation and sale for resale of natural gas in interstate commerce, and the rates, accounts, and depreciation and depletion practices. Certificates of public convenience and necessity are issued to those natural gas companies subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. Statistics about the natural gas industry are gathered and published. In January 1961 there were approximately 20,000 independent producers, who individually or associated with others, had over 12,000 rate schedules on file. There were also 103 regulated natural gas pipeline companies, with operating revenues of $4.6 billion. It is estimated that the number of independent producers and pipeline companies will remain substantially unchanged in 1961 and 1962. However, the operating revenues of the pipeline companies are expected to increase to $5.1 billion in the current year. Other pertinent data are:

Description	1961 actual	1962 estimate	1963 estimate
Certificate applications filed:
(a) Pipeline companies	347	350	350
(b) Independent producers	1,866	1,850	1,850

Independent producer rate cases handled	2,875	3,102	3,252
Rate cases on hand, end of year	2,668	2,818	2,158

An intensive effort is being made to reduce the backlog of certificate and rate cases by improving procedures and increasing staff. A supplemental estimate for 1962 is anticipated for separate transmittal.

4. Federal river development projects.—Of a potential 128.4 million kilowatts of hydroelectric power in the United States, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, 33.3 million kilowatts had been developed as of December 31, 1960. Of this total, 14.7 million kilowatts had been developed by Federal agencies and 18.6 million kilowatts by non-Federal interests.

Studies are made of proposed Federal river development projects to determine possibilities for conservation, development, and utilization of potential power resources. Review and approval are required of certain proposed rates for sale of power from Federal projects. Information on the power features of river development projects is furnished to Congress and to Federal and State agencies. In fiscal year 1961, 104 studies were carried on and it is estimated that there will be 103 in 1962 and 110 in 1963.

5. International Joint Commission.—A Commission staff member serves on the International Joint Commission, which adjudicates controversies between the Governments or nationals of the United States and Canada over boundary waters and waters that cross the boundary.

The Commission has the duty of preserving free competitive enterprise through prevention of monopolistic and unfair trade.

1. Antimonopoly.—All types of monopolistic restrictions, including price-fixing conspiracies, boycotting, price discriminations, and illegal mergers and acquisitions are corrected; economic data and criteria are brought to bear on monopoly and related problems; supervision is provided over the registration and operations of associations of American exporters engaged solely in export trade; and at the request of the Attorney General, investigations are made as to whether or not defendant corporations are complying with final decrees of United States courts in antitrust violations. In 1963 investigation and trial of merger and other antimonopoly cases will be expedited.

2. Deceptive practices.—False and misleading advertising and other unfair or deceptive practices are prevented by corrective action, including the affirmative aid of voluntary trade-practice conferences and advertising guides; business and the public are protected from the evils of misbranding and nondisclosure of fiber content of manufactured wool products and household textile articles; consumers and merchants are protected from unfair practices with respect to furs and fur products; and the public is protected from dangers inherent in flammable fabrics. In 1963 investigation and trial of deceptive practice cases will be expedited.

3. Executive direction and management.—In addition to its standard functions, this activity includes the adjudicatory functions of the Commission.

The Commission regulates common and, in the case of motor and water carriers, contract carriers engaged in interstate commerce and, to the extent that it takes place within the United States, foreign commerce. The types of carriers covered include railroads, express companies, sleeping car companies, motor carriers, water carriers, pipelines (except for water and gas), and freight forwarders.

The increase of $1.1 million is requested in order to handle the continually increasing number of applications for motor carrier permanent and temporary operating authorities and applications for mergers and consolidations of motor carriers and railroads; to improve the economic and cost data necessary for regulatory activities; and to provide a more adequate level of compliance with the provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act and related acts.

A supplemental estimate for 1962 is anticipated for separate transmittal.

1. Regulation of carrier rates, practices, operating authorities, and finance.—This activity of the Commission consists of regulating rates; granting operating authorities; approving applications for abandonments of and extensions of railroad lines, financial reorganizations, and rate agreements between carriers; reviewing proposed discontinuances of or changes in the operation or service of trains and ferries; and guaranteeing loans to railroads.

2. Compliance.—The Commission enforces statutes and regulations affecting transportation and carriers. Examinations are made to ascertain that motor carriers and freight forwarders are adequately insured, and surveys of motor carrier operating practices are conducted to reduce accidents and to promote highway safety.

3. Supervision and analysis of carrier accounting and statistics.—The Commission is responsible for the formulation and policing of uniform systems of accounts; the preparation of studies of operating costs for use in rate proceedings; the maintenance of current inventory and cost records; the development of elements of value used in regulating carriers; the compiling of statistics from carrier reports; and the preparation of studies of operating, financial, and related transportation problems.

4. Supervision and interpretation of tariffs.—Carrier tariffs, or rate schedules, are examined for compliance with the Commission's tariff rules; authority to publish rates on less-than-statutory notice is, under certain conditions, granted; and informal complaints and carrier requests to pay reparations are processed.

5. Railroad safety and car service.—Commission field personnel work with carriers and shippers in handling problems of safety and efficient use of equipment in the transportation of passengers and property by railroad. This work includes inspection of safety appliances and signal installations, inspection of locomotives, and enforcement of car-service regulations designed to increase the utilization of railroad rolling stock.

6. Executive and advisory functions.—This activity includes the work of the Commissioners and their staffs; the defense of Commission orders in court; the rendering of legal advice to the Commission; and the formal issuance of orders, rules, and regulations.

8. Emergency transportation functions.—The Commission is responsible for the mobilization of domestic surface transportation and storage.

The Agency is preparing its report to the President on organization and financing for improved mass transportation in the National Capital region, which is due November 1, 1962. Preliminary engineering and economic plans are being developed for the first stages of construction of a rapid transit system within the District of Columbia and special consideration is being given to expanded use of existing rail transit facilities. An overall transit plan is simultaneously being developed for the region, including detailed cost and revenue estimates. The Agency's program must be coordinated with the respective governing and planning bodies of the area.

The Board resolves representation disputes in industry and remedies and prevents specified unfair labor practices by employers or labor organizations. Additional funds are requested to meet a steadily rising caseload in both unfair labor practices and representation cases. Estimates for 1963 reflect an intake increase over 1962 of 12% for unfair labor practice cases and 9% for representation cases.

1. Field investigations and determinations.—Charges of unfair labor practices and petitions for elections to resolve representation disputes are investigated by regional office personnel. About 85% of the unfair labor practice cases and about 75% of the representation cases are closed by settlement, dismissal, or withdrawal. The remainder are prepared for public hearing. The agency strives for the voluntary settlement of disputes, and the incidence of informal settlements is estimated to increase in 1963.

2. Trial examiner hearings.—Trial examiners conduct public hearings in unfair labor practice cases. Their findings and recommendations are set forth in intermediate reports. In 1961 there were 694 hearings held, 116 proceedings adjusted and 697 reports issued. The estimate for 1962 is for 822 hearings, 67 adjusted proceedings and 750 reports. The 1963 estimate is for 898 hearings, 128 adjusted proceedings and 788 reports.

3. Board adjudication.—In an unfair labor practice case a trial examiner's intermediate report becomes a Board order if no exceptions are filed. About 25% so result. The remainder are referred to the Board for decision, of which the Board issued 415 in 1961. The estimate for 1962 is 701 and the estimate for 1963 is 692. Pursuant to the authority of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959, the Board delegated to regional directors its powers with respect to representation cases, effective May 15, 1961. As a result, although the Board issued 2,197 decisions in contested representation proceedings in 1961, only 675 are estimated for 1962 and only 150 for 1963. Similarly, although regional directors issued only 52 such decisions in 1961, the estimate for 1962 is 1,992 and the estimate for 1963 is 2,094.

4. Securing compliance with Board orders.—If the parties do not voluntarily comply with the Board's order involving unfair labor practices, the Board must request the courts to enforce its decisions. In 1961 a total of 176 Board decisions of all kinds required litigation; the estimate for 1962 is 215; the estimate for 1963 is 243.

Under proposed legislation, 1963.—Railroad workers entering military service are given wage credits to build up rights to benefits under the Railroad Retirement system. Under existing law the Government is obligated to pay to the Railroad Retirement account the combined employer-employee payroll tax for these wage credits. Legislation will be proposed to change the method of calculating amounts due for creditable military service under the Railroad Retirement Act after 1961 and also to eliminate duplicating payments to both the Social Security system and the Railroad Retirement system for the same military service. After enactment an estimated supplemental of $16,000 thousand will be submitted to pay the first of seven yearly installments on the existing debt owed to the Railroad Retirement account for creditable military service for the period through December 31, 1958. Subsequent studies by the Railroad Retirement Board will determine the amounts due for military service after 1958, and these amounts will be included in future year appropriations.

The Board administers the railroad retirement system, financed by employer and employee taxes. This system provides annuities for age and disability and benefits for survivors. Funds for the administrative expenses of the Board in the operation of this program are derived from the Railroad retirement account.

1. Maintenance of earnings accounts.—Eligibility for and the amount of benefits are based on individual accounts of compensation. This workload fluctuates with the level of employment in the railroad industry, rates of turnover, and similar factors. Accounts posted were 1,180 thousand in 1961 and are estimated at 1,100 thousand in 1962 and 1,050 thousand in 1963. The costs are shared on a measured basis with the railroad unemployment insurance program.

2. Processing claims.—Applications for annuities and benefits are adjudicated and certified for initial payment. Claims processed were 182 thousand in 1961 and are estimated at 183 thousand and 185 thousand in 1962 and 1963.

3. Maintenance of beneficiary rolls.—Benefit payments must be authorized each month for those persons on the rolls who continue to remain eligible. The number of monthly benefit payments will increase from 9,658 thousand in 1961 to an estimated 10,245 thousand and 10,800 thousand in 1962 and 1963. The number of persons on the rolls receiving monthly benefit payments will increase from 825 thousand at the end of 1961 to an estimated 865 thousand and 910 thousand in 1962 and 1963.

4. Hearings and appeals.—Individuals whose claims for annuities or benefits are disallowed or who dispute the award have the right of appeal. Appeals dispositions were 264 in 1961 and are estimated at 240 in 1962 and 1963.

5. Actuarial services.—Actuarial studies and estimates are required by the Railroad Retirement Act to determine the adequacy of the tax rate to establish and maintain a sufficient reserve to meet all future payments.

6. Administration.—The cost of administration is shared between the retirement and the railroad unemployment insurance programs on a measured basis.

The Board conducts renegotiation with contractors to eliminate excessive profits in connection with procurement under the national defense program. All contractors and subcontractors who have business subject to the act, which presently extends through June 30, 1962, are required to file with the Board if such business exceeds $1 million in a year. The Board has determined or recovered $853.7 million in excessive profits from the date of its establishment through June 30, 1961. Of this total, $17.2 million was determined during 1961.

1. Executive direction.—The Board is responsible for final action in all cases. This includes screening all filings involving renegotiable business over $1 million and requests for exemption.

2. Staff operations.—The headquarters staff furnishes technical advice and assistance to the Board and regional organization.

3. Renegotiation operations (field).—The two regional boards conduct renegotiation proceedings and make determinations and recommendations. They are authorized to conclude cases involving $800 thousand or less of renegotiable profits; however, their determinations in such cases may be appealed to the statutory Board. All determinations in cases involving more than $800 thousand renegotiable profits are subject to approval by the statutory board.

The Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, a wholly Government-owned enterprise, is responsible for the construction, operation, and maintenance of that part of the Saint Lawrence Seaway within the territorial limits of the United States (33 U.S.C. 981). A 27-foot navigational channel from Lake Erie to Montreal was officially opened for the 1959 navigational season. The Seaway has been constructed and is being operated and maintained jointly by the Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation and the Saint Lawrence Seaway Authority of Canada, in conjunction with the related power development works provided by the Power Authority of the State of New York and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

Operating costs and interest.—The Seaway has been operating on a toll basis since the 1959 shipping season. These costs consist of interest, administrative expenses, operations of locks and canals, control of traffic, and the related maintenance of the plant, navigation aids and other equipment.

The estimates for administrative expenses for 1963 are $425 thousand, the same as 1962.

Capital outlay.—The Corporation's construction program consists of a 10-mile canal, two locks, and navigation channels in the 46-mile International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River between Ogdensburg and Massena, and certain channel and related navigation works in the 68-mile Thousand Islands section between Lake Ontario and Ogdensburg.

The total construction cost of the U.S. share of the Seaway, excluding interest during construction, is estimated at $123.8 million. Work in place at the end of 1962 is estimated at $122.9 million, and the 1963 program to complete the project is estimated at $839 thousand, consisting principally of construction of a new training dike or extension of existing dike, removal of shoals, installation of additional navigation aids, cellular extension of the downstream approaches to Snell lock, and other minor improvements.

Financing.—The Corporation is authorized to borrow $140 million from the Treasury to finance the costs of the Seaway and to provide for working capital and claims. Borrowings through 1962 are estimated at $122.3 million, and an additional $1.8 million is required for 1963. Capitalized interest amounting to $6.7 million has not been charged against the borrowing authority. During 1961, an $8 thousand repayment on borrowings was returned to the Treasury as a result of the Cornwall International Bridge Co.'s revenues being in excess of interest and operating expenses.

Operating results.—The estimated operating revenues for 1963 are $4.5 million and the expenses are $1.5 million, including provision for a reserve for replacements. The net operating income will be used to pay interest to the U.S. Treasury. Payment of part of the interest accrued will be deferred until revenues are sufficient, and it is expected that all such interest deferred will be paid before the end of the 10-year developmental period.

The toll rates have been established at a level which will repay all the costs of the investment in the Seaway, including interest and operating expenses, within the 50-year statutory payout period, and any deficit incurred during the developmental period without requiring additional borrowing authority. Although no depreciation is recorded for assets having useful lives in excess of 50 years, the cost of these assets will be recovered through amortization of the debt. A replacement reserve is provided for those assets with shorter lives.

The primary purpose of the Selective Service System is effective manpower utilization through classification under the Universal Military Training and Service Act. The System is responsible for supplying men to keep the Armed Forces at their authorized strength and to the extent that their needs are not met by voluntary enlistment. It will be required to supply an estimated 200,000 men for this purpose in 1963 as compared to approximately 196,000 in 1962 and 61,000 in 1961.

1. National administration, planning, training, and records management.—The overall administration of the act including planning, training, and records management is accomplished by the national headquarters and six regional field offices.

2. State administration, planning, training, and records servicing.—Administration of the act within the several states is the responsibility of the 56 State headquarters operating under the policies determined by national headquarters.

3. Registration, classification, and induction.—These functions affecting over 24 million registrants are accomplished by the over 42,000 uncompensated citizens assisted by about 6,000 clerks at over 4,000 boards. These citizens determine who shall be deferred and for how long in the national interest in agriculture, industry, or other pursuits. They also determine the availability for military service of members of the Standby Reserve.

4. Special boards—(a) National advisory committee on the selection of physicians, dentists, and allied specialists.—This Committee acts in an advisory capacity to the Selective Service System. It is separately administered, but funds are furnished by the Selective Service System from its appropriation.

(b) National Selective Service Appeal Board.—This Board acts on the classification of registrants which have been appealed to the President. It is under separate administration but the Selective Service System provides funds for its operation.

This fund finances business and disaster loans as authorized by the Small Business Act, as amended (72 Stat. 384), and investment and development company assistance activities, as authorized by the Small Business Investment Act, as amended (72 Stat. 689). The Congress has authorized appropriations to the fund of $1,200 million. Of this amount, not to exceed $725 million may be outstanding for business loans (and prime contracting activities), $150 million for disaster loans, and $325 million for investment and development company assistance. Legislation is being proposed to eliminate both this ceiling on total appropriations and the individual program limitations.

Outstanding loans and reservations at the end of each year for the three programs financed by the fund are as follows (in millions of dollars):

Financial assistance program:

Business loans.—Business loans may be made directly or in participation with banks or other lending institutions, and shall be of such sound value or so secured as reasonably to assure repayment. No loan may be made unless the financial assistance is not otherwise available on reasonable terms. No direct loan may be made unless it is shown that participation with a bank is not available and no immediate participation loan may be made unless it is shown that a deferred participation loan is not available. The Administration's participation in a loan is limited to 90% and the agency's maximum loan to any one borrower is limited to $350 thousand, except for a loan to a corporation formed and capitalized by a group of small business concerns for purposes authorized in the Small Business Act. With respect to such "pool" loans, the limitation is $250 thousand multiplied by the number of separate small businesses participating in the corporation. Administratively, it has been determined that applications for loans for more than $200 thousand (SBA share) will not be accepted from other than defense-oriented firms. Business loans, except for the purpose of constructing facilities, are limited to a maturity of 10 years and except for "pool" loans and loans in "redevelopment areas" under the Area Redevelopment Act, bear interest at a maximum rate of 5½% per annum on the agency's share thereof. For "pool" loans, the rate of interest on the Small Business Administration's share is no less than 3% nor more than 5% per annum. For loans in ARA designated areas, the rate of interest on the Small Business Administration's share is 4% per annum.

It is the policy to assist businessmen operating small firms to secure credit for constructive purposes on terms that will meet the borrower's individual requirements. Assistance includes counseling as well as the lending of funds. From the beginning of the lending program on September 29, 1953, through June 30, 1961, 25,351 loans had been approved in a total amount of $1,205.6 million (including participating banks' shares of $181.9 million). Sixty-three percent of these loans have been on a participation basis. The average size of loans approved to date has been $47,500. In 1963 it is estimated that 9,375 loans will be approved, compared to an estimate of 7,875 in 1962 and 4,989 in 1961.

Disaster loans.—No restrictions exist on the amount which may be loaned to an individual or business firm suffering loss from a disaster. The maximum term for disaster loans is 20 years and the interest rate for other than "displaced business" disaster loans may not exceed 3% on the Small Business Administration's share of the loan. For "displaced business" disaster loans, authorized by the Housing Act of 1961, the rate on the SBA share of the loan is determined pursuant to a formula prescribed by legislation. For fiscal year 1962 the rate will be 3½% per annum. Through June 30, 1961, a total of 12,019 regular disaster loans for $122.8 million had been approved, including 2,778 loans for $25.7 million in 1961 (primarily as a result of the damage caused by hurricane "Donna" in September 1960). Except for "displaced business" loans, the unpredictable nature of the program makes it impractical to estimate the volume of new loans. New commitments of $6 million for "displaced business" loans and $14 million for all other disaster loans are estimated for 1963. The estimate for 1962 reflects the high volume of loans made as a result of damages caused by hurricane "Carla" in September 1961, primarily in Texas and Louisiana.

Interest expense.—As required by the Small Business Act, interest is payable to the Treasury Department on outstanding disbursements from the Fund, at a rate determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, taking into consideration the current average rate on outstanding interest-bearing marketable public debt obligations of the United States of comparable maturities. In 1961 the rate was 3½%, while for 1962 the rate is 3%. This latter rate has been used for the purpose of computing the estimated interest expenses for 1963 applicable to estimated net cash disbursements from the Fund for business and disaster loans.

Administrative expenses.—Administrative expenses are financed by transfer of funds from the revolving fund to the appropriation for salaries and expenses.

Investment and development company assistance program:

Purchase of debentures of small business investment companies.—A primary function of these companies is to provide a source of needed equity capital for small business concerns. To facilitate the formation and growth of such companies with capital adequate to meet the demands from small business firms, the Small Business Investment Act, as amended, authorizes the Small Business Administration with certain limitations to purchase subordinated debentures of any such company in an amount not to exceed the lesser of $400,000 or the amount of the paid-in capital and surplus of the company from other sources. It is estimated that the Small Business Administration will approve purchase of debentures in the amount of $72.5 million in 1963 compared with an estimate of $61.0 million in 1962.

Loans to small business investment companies.—To further encourage the formation and growth of such companies, the Small Business Administration is also authorized under certain circumstances to lend funds to them in amounts which may not exceed 50% of the paid-in capital and surplus of a company or $4 million, whichever is less. In addition to $8 million estimated to be loaned directly to such companies by Small Business Administration in 1963, $64 million of loans is anticipated to be made to these companies by commercial banks under a program inaugurated in 1962 for the making of such loans under a "standby" guarantee by the agency. A fund reservation of 50% is held against such loans.

Loans to State and local development companies.—The Small Business Administration is authorized to lend funds to State development companies for general use purposes; and to State and local development companies for plant construction, conversion, or expansion, including the acquisition of land. Latter type loans shall be so secured as reasonably to assure repayment, may be made directly or in participation with banks or other lending institutions, may be made only when the proceeds are for use solely to assist an identifiable small business concern and for a sound business purpose approved by the agency, and are limited to a maximum of $350,000 for each such identifiable small business concern. A total of $31.5 million is estimated to be approved in 1963, compared with an estimate of $17 million in 1962.

Interest expense.—This item reflects the amount of interest expense payable to the Treasury applicable to the financing of investment and development companies through loans and debenture purchases. Also, see the description for this item under the "Financial Assistance" program above.

Administrative expenses.—Beginning in 1963 these expenses will be financed by transfer of funds from the revolving fund to the appropriation for salaries and expenses. Prior to the amendments enacted in the 1st

Session of the 87th Congress, the Small Business Investment Act had specifically provided for direct appropriations for such expenses.

Financing:

The capital of the revolving fund is provided by direct appropriations. Appropriations made to date, including $180 million for fiscal year 1962, total $920 million. A supplemental appropriation of $80 million for 1962 is estimated. Appropriation requests for increased capital funds are predicated on the additional amount required to finance an estimated program volume (and related interest, administrative and other expenses), after taking into consideration funds becoming available through principal repayments and revenue. The 1963 budget also contemplates an intensive program for the sale of seasoned loans to banks and other financial institutions, involving the sale of an estimated $50 million of business loans and $5 million each of loans to small business investment companies and to State development companies. To finance the estimated program level in 1963, after taking into consideration funds to be provided by repayments, revenue and sale of loans, additional appropriations of $300 million will be required.

Pursuant to the proposal contained in the 1962 Budget, the 1963 budget program provides for a transfer to the revolving fund of the assets and liabilities of the RFC liquidation fund remaining as of July 1, 1962, estimated at a net amount of $1,995 thousand. This will permit the elimination of separate accounting records and budget schedules otherwise required for a relatively nominal amount of assets remaining to be liquidated.

Operating results:

The deficit is expected to continue to increase primarily because the cost of processing the increasing number of applications of which only about one-half result in interest-earning loans, the cost of servicing the expanding number of widely scattered loans which are relatively small in size, and the interest expense payable to Treasury on net expenditures from the fund exceed interest (ranging from 3 to 6%) and fee income.

This fund finances the liquidation of business and disaster loans of the former Reconstruction Finance Corporation which have been transferred to the Small Business Administration for administration and liquidation. Under Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1954, disaster loans in an amount of $14.7 million were transferred to the Small Business Administration. Also, pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 1 of 1957, business loans and other assets of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation liquidation fund, Treasury Department, in excess of $14 million were transferred.

Budget program.—Loans and other assets in the fund will be substantially liquidated by the end of 1962. In order to eliminate separate accounting records and budget schedules otherwise required for a relatively nominal amount of assets remaining to be liquidated, the 1962 budget proposed the transfer to the SBA revolving fund at the beginning of 1963 of the remaining assets and liabilities of this fund. This budget program provides for the transfer as of July 1, 1962, of such net assets, estimated at an amount of $1,995 thousand.

Financing.—Administrative expenses and other program obligations are financed from receipts from the liquidation of loans and other assets.

Operating results and financial condition.—In 1961, net budget receipts of $1.4 million together with cash funds carried over from 1960 provided funds sufficient to permit a payment of $1.6 million to the Treasury as a return of the Government's equity. Estimated net budget receipts of $1 million during the current year will enable a similar payment of $1.8 million in 1962. As of June 30, 1962, it is estimated that the Government equity will have been reduced to $2.1 million, comprised of net assets of $1,995 thousand to be transferred to the SBA revolving fund as discussed above, and cash of $154 thousand to be transferred to the Treasury as a final liquidation payment.

The Smithsonian Institution maintains public exhibits representative of the arts, American history, aeronautics, anthropology, geology, technology, and biology; preserves for reference and study purposes millions of valuable items of scientific, cultural, and historical interest; conducts research in the natural sciences and in the history of cultures, technology, and the arts; and participates in the international exchange of scientific literature. The Institution operates two museums, two scientific bureaus, two art galleries, the Canal Zone Biological Area, and the International Exchange Service. It is responsible also for the operation and maintenance of five main exhibition buildings, a facility at Silver Hill, Md., and an exhibits laboratory. The 1963 estimate provides also for a National Armed Forces Museum Advisory Board and a National Portrait Gallery.

During the budget year part of the collections, exhibits, and activities of the Museum of History and Technology will be moved into the new building; partial occupancy of the east wing of the Natural History Building will involve moving and storing museum materials and moving office and laboratory equipment; the National Collection of Fine Arts will prepare exhibition plans and improve the condition of its collections in preparation for the move into the existing Civil Service Commission Building; two exhibits renovation projects and four building rehabilitation projects will be completed; the U.S. National Museum's efforts in the field of oceanography and other scientific programs of the Institution will be broadened.

A supplemental estimate for 1962 is anticipated for separate transmittal.

Public interest continues to grow, as evidenced by the number of visitors: 1959, 6,351 thousand; 1960, 6,495 thousand; and 1961, 7,103 thousand.

Adjudication of cases and legal activities.—Upon petitions being filed, the Board holds formal hearings and determines whether: (a) organizations are Communist-action organizations, Communist-front organizations, or Communist-infiltrated organizations; (b) individuals are officers or members of a Communist-action organization or officers of a Communist-front organization and required to register as such; (c) the registration of particular Communist-action organizations or Communist-front organizations or of particular individuals should be canceled; and (d) a particular Communist-infiltrated organization has ceased to be a Communist-infiltrated organization. The Board's determinations involve the consideration of petitions, motions, answers, and evidence adduced at the hearings. In each case the Board issues a report in writing setting forth its rulings and findings as to the facts, and issues an appropriate order.

To date, the Board has heard and is hearing, only cases in which petitions against alleged Communist organizations have been filed by the Attorney General, who is the only person authorized by law to bring such actions. Under the act, proceedings concerning individuals in such organizations must await final determinations by the Board and by the appellate courts where appeals have been taken, that the organizations to which they belong are Communist-action or Communist-front.

The Congress created the Tennessee Valley Authority in 1933 for the unified development of a river basin comprising parts of seven States. Engineering works improve and regulate the Tennessee River for navigation, flood control, and the generation of electric power. Fertilizer research and agricultural activities promote conservation and improved use of land and water resources. Tributary area development work seeks integrated solution of special economic development problems in subregions. Forestry activities stress maximum use of forest resources consistent with watershed protection. All these activities are interrelated. Their common purpose is to help develop the valley's agricultural and industrial potential for the benefit of both the region and the Nation.

Other national interests are directly served. The Tennessee waterway, a part of the inland waterway system, is an interregional artery for commerce moving to and from ports in 20 States. About 40% of TVA's electric power generation is used by Federal agencies. In national emergencies, defense needs have first call on the Muscle Shoals chemical facilities for munitions research and production; in peacetime, they serve as the country's only public research center equipped for complete development of fertilizers from laboratory to demonstration-scale production.

TVA is a corporation wholly owned by the Federal Government. Its 1963 activities will be financed from three sources: (1) appropriations by the Congress; (2) proceeds available from current power operations and borrowings against future power revenues; and (3) proceeds available from nonpower activities.

Budget program—1. Navigation, flood control, and power program.—A major objective of the TVA Act is development and use of the Tennessee River for the threefold purpose of navigation, flood control, and power. System facilities consist of 26 major dams with hydroelectric generating stations, 9 navigation locks at 8 dams, 10 major steam-electric generating stations, and a power transmission network of about 12,254 circuit miles.

(a) Navigation operations of the multipurpose reservoir system maintain the all-year 9-foot channel from the mouth of the river to Knoxville, Tenn., a distance of 650 miles. Traffic on the Tennessee waterway in calendar year 1960 was 12 million tons and 2.3 billion ton-miles. Transportation savings to shippers on this volume of traffic is estimated at $26.9 million, the difference between freight charges actually paid and those which would have obtained if the river had not been improved for navigation. About $25.9 million of these savings applied on freight originating outside the valley or moving from the valley to outside destinations. Engineering work assures that physical facilities are operated, maintained, and modified or improved to meet the needs of modern waterborne commerce. Technical studies appraise the opportunities for use of the waterway and the barriers inhibiting its use. Data supplied to shippers and carriers help solve transportation problems, looking to full utilization of the Federal investment in the navigation channel.

Capital outlay costs for navigation facilities in 1963 are estimated at $9,312 thousand and include provision for beginning construction of a new lock at Guntersville Dam, Alabama. Scheduled for service in June 1965, it will be a single-lift lock with 110-foot by 600-foot chamber, and is estimated to cost $16.5 million. The 1963 estimate also provides for continuing construction of the new lock at Wheeler Dam which is scheduled to be in service in

(b) Flood control operations of the Tennessee River system maintain and use storage space in upstream reservoirs for seasonal retention of excessive runoff and regulate discharges to rates of flow which can be handled safely by downstream channels and reservoirs. Dams on the Tennessee River and its tributaries provide 11.8 million acre-feet of storage for flood control at the beginning of the flood season. Cities and agricultural lands in the Tennessee Valley are protected and flood crests can be reduced on the lower Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. Since 1936, regulation of the reservoirs for flood control has averted damages totaling in the order of $130 million in the Tennessee Valley, and about $29 million on the lower Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. As a supplement to operating its reservoir system for flood control, TVA collects and analyzes flood data; studies potential flood control projects and ways to improve operations of the existing system. Technical advice and assistance is given to State and local agencies in finding solutions to local urban and rural flood control problems. For the 150 communities in the valley having local flood problems, 68 reports have been made covering 80 communities. Seventeen have officially adopted flood-plain regulations and others are planning definite follow-up action. It is planned to develop and present technical data to 9 or more additional communities in 1962 and 10 or more communities in 1963.

(c) Power operations involve generation and transmission of power and sale of energy at wholesale to local distribution systems and to a small number of industries and Government agencies requiring large amounts of power. As of Dec. 1, 1961, power is distributed by 153 local public agencies and 2 small privately owned utility companies. Total energy to be supplied to the power system from generating facilities of TVA, the Army on the Cumberland River, and the Aluminum Company of America on the Little Tennessee River is estimated to be 71.8 billion kilowatt-hours in 1963. This is about 5.1 billion kilowatt-hours greater than the energy supplied to the system in 1961 and about 4.9 billion kilowatt-hours above that estimated to be supplied in 1962. Net income from power operations, after depreciation, for 1963 is estimated to be $61.1 million—$9.5 million greater than in 1961, and $1.6 million above the estimate for 1962. The estimates assume average streamflow conditions. Better than average streamflows could produce some increase in net income over the estimates; with subnormal streamflows, the net income would be reduced by increases in production expenses.

The 1963 estimate for power supply facilities to be financed from power proceeds and revenue bonds is $93,286 thousand. Of this estimate $85,043 thousand is for continuing construction of steam generating units at the Widows Creek, Colbert, Paradise, and Bull Run projects and hydroelectric generating units at Melton Hill, Wilson, and Wheeler Dams. As of June 30, 1961, the installed nameplate capacity of the system was 11.9 million kilowatts, including the Army plants on the Cumberland River and Aluminum Company of America plants on the Little Tennessee River operated as a part of the TVA system. Completion on schedule of units started prior to 1962 will bring the system nameplate capacity to 14 million kilowatts by the winter of 1963-64. The estimated dependable capacity of the system at that time of 14.4 million kilowatts provides a reserve of 12.7% over estimated system demands of 12.8 million kilowatts to allow for loss of capacity because of breakdown of generating equipment and needs for its maintenance, failure of substation equipment and transmission lines, and drawdown of reservoirs during extremely dry periods. The presently budgeted capacity additions will increase the system dependable capacity to about 14.9 million kilowatts by the end of calendar year 1964 and to about 15.8 million kilowatts by the end of calendar year 1965. The presently estimated demands are 13.3 million kilowatts and 14.4 million kilowatts, leaving reserves of 11.8% and 9.1%, respectively, in the winters of 1964-65 and 1965-66.

These margins are lower than those which are generally considered desirable by the electric utility industry. Continued load growth will require additional capacity and latest projections indicate that an additional 900,000-kilowatt unit will need to be in service in the winter of 1966-67. The 1963 budget includes $8,243 thousand for starting this unit at a site not yet determined. The magnitude and locations of any additional capacity needed in the winter of 1966-67 and in succeeding years have not yet been determined.

Estimated capital outlay costs for power supply facilities in 1963 include $8,546 thousand from power proceeds and revenue bonds for continuing construction of the Melton Hill Dam and Reservoir on the Clinch River, about 23 miles upstream from its confluence with the Tennessee. The project will extend the navigation channel to Clinton, Tenn., and provide rated power generating capacity of 72,000 kilowatts. The cost of the lock, other navigation facilities, and an allocated portion of the multiple-purpose facilities will be financed with appropriated funds; and the balance with power and revenue bond proceeds.

(c) Topographic mapping of the valley serves TVA's planning, construction, and operating needs and meets the standards of the Geological Survey for nationwide map coverage. The scheduled mapping carried on cooperatively with the Survey covers 763 quadrangles (about 46,100 square miles). As of June 30, 1961, 739 quadrangles (about 44,900 square miles) were completed and printed. Work on the remaining 24 quadrangles (about 1,200 square miles) will be complete by the end of 1962. The estimate for 1963 includes $100 thousand for bringing up to date about 18 quadrangles in need of revision.

2. Fertilizer, agricultural, and munitions program.—Chemical facilities at Wilson Dam, Ala., are maintained and operated as a national fertilizer development center, but by statute, they must likewise be available for munitions purposes and are an important segment of the national defense program.

(a) Research on fertilizer products and processes has three phases—fundamental research, applied research, and process engineering in the laboratory and through pilot-plant operation. TVA works cooperatively with the Department of Agriculture and with industry to avoid duplication. Research results on technological developments and new and improved processes are made available to industry. Knowledge gained in fertilizer research is valuable also in the related field of munitions. Significant projects in 1963 will be research on the economical production of oxamide and the production of nitrogen fertilizers from low-grade coal. Studies and development work will continue on nonexplosive ammonium nitrate and granular potassium metaphosphate. Other continuing work relates to fertilizer uses of calcium cyanamide and formamide; pelletized phosphate fertilizer; calcium polyphosphate; and improved methods for production of wet process phosphoric acid.

(b) Fertilizer production and distribution has these objectives: to demonstrate the technical and commercial feasibility of new or improved processes, thereby encouraging their adoption by industry; to supply materials for test demonstration on practical farms and for widespread educational introduction among farmers; and to supply munitions materials or render other services for national defense. New or improved fertilizers are sold to farmers for educational purposes through cooperative and industry distributors who in turn furnish data to TVA concerning distribution costs and farmer acceptance. Significant aspects of 1963 production plans are increased tonnage of new materials—concentrated superphosphate, ammonium phosphate nitrate, granular ammonium nitrate, calcium metaphosphate, and liquid fertilizer—and reduced distribution of diammonium phosphate and ammonium nitrate. Estimated cost of fertilizer production and distribution in 1963 is $20,370 thousand; income from the sale of fertilizer products and byproducts is estimated at $18,523 thousand.

(c) Fertilizer tests and demonstrations are of three principal types: (1) laboratory and field plot tests to determine under controlled conditions the relative efficiency of materials; (2) studies and demonstrations aimed at developing more efficient and economical ways of distributing and applying fertilizer; and (3) farm test demonstrations of fertilizer use. Major objectives of the latter are to introduce experimental fertilizers and demonstrate their uses to farmers throughout the Nation and to improve the valley's agriculture, forestry, and watershed-streamflow relationships. In 1963 some 2,820 farms in 31 States will participate in the program. Farmer payments for TVA fertilizer used in test demonstrations will total $736 thousand, averaging about 60% of the plant cost of the material. Agricultural extension services of the land-grant colleges supervise and technically guide farm test demonstration activities, with TVA bearing part of the cost. During 1963 cooperating institutions will pay an estimated $1,065 thousand of the cost of field planning and supervision; TVA's payment is estimated at $368 thousand.

Capital outlay costs for chemical facilities in 1963 are estimated at $8,683 thousand, most of which is for continuation of a rehabilitation program started in 1960. Facilities to be completed in 1963 include a new phosphorus furnace to replace furnaces now obsolete, a new nitric acid unit to replace World War I facilities, and a nitrogen granulation facility which employs a new process. This estimate also provides for beginning construction of an addition to the chemical engineering building at Wilson Dam to provide adequate laboratory and office facilities. Plans for this structure include provision for fallout shelter.

3. Cooperative valley development programs.—The overall development of the Tennessee Valley area in cooperation with State and local agencies and groups constitutes an important part of TVA's program for the proper use, conservation, and development of the region's natural resources. Investigations identify current problems and opportunities for development under conditions of optimum use. Research helps develop and test corrective measures. Cooperative projects with State and local groups apply these measures to regional and special problems.

Cooperative valley development activities are of three types: tributary area development, forestry projects, and investigation and appraisal of mineral resources.

(a) The tributary area development program includes TVA activities in subareas of the valley where special attention is being given to economic development. These are areas where local problems inhibit economic growth, where there are opportunities for substantially greater development of the resource base, and where local organizations, with their State and local governments, will join with TVA to find and apply solutions. The basic approach is the development of local organization, the inventory of area resources, the selection of the most desirable alternatives for resource development, and the application of improvement measures, with the cooperation of all agencies having a contribution to make. During 1963, TVA will take part in cooperative tributary area development work in at least 9 tributary areas where local development organizations exist or are being formed. In addition, research on the effects of changes in land use on the quality and behavior of water in the streams will be continued to provide data useful in the solution of tributary area problems directly related to hydrology.

Capital outlay estimates for 1963 include $2.5 million for beginning construction of a multipurpose water control system in the Beech River watershed. This represents a new approach to solutions of water control problems in small tributary watersheds by joint participation by the Federal Government and State and local agencies. The estimated total cost of the planned water control facilities is $6 million. From the cash benefits generated by the system, local agencies will repay $2 million.

(b) Forestry projects aid the States, counties, landowners, and the timber industry in developing full production and use of the valley's forest resource consistent with the needs of watershed protection. Forestry projects include research and demonstrations in forest management and forest damage prevention, reforestation, and wood utilization.

(c) Investigation and appraisal of mineral resources will continue in cooperation with State and local agencies. This includes economic geology and chemical engineering studies related to mineral processing.

4. General service activities.—Reimbursable services furnished at the request and expense of other agencies comprise all but a minor portion of these operations.

The 1963 estimate of $8,328 thousand for reimbursable services includes $1,207 thousand for mapping services performed for the Army, the Geological Survey, and others. The estimate includes $2,810 thousand for continuing construction of a bridge over Pickwick Dam, for which reimbursement is to be received from the Public Roads Administration and the State of Tennessee. An estimate of $3,034 thousand covers services for the construction and operation of an experimental gas-cooled reactor for the Atomic Energy Commission. Services for the Department of Defense in connection with keeping the Muscle Shoals phosphate development works in standby status are estimated at $228 thousand. Reimbursements of $210 thousand are anticipated from power distributors for technical advisory services. The balance is for loans of personnel and services to other agencies and miscellaneous recoveries of TVA expenditures.

Capital outlay estimated at $772 thousand for general facilities in 1963 is made up of a budget outlay of $2,242 thousand, offset by depreciation credits of $1,470 thousand. The $2,242 thousand is for purchase of equipment used in all program activities and covers primarily replacement of trucks and other heavy mobile equipment.

Operating results and financial condition.—Accumulated net income from power operations at the end of 1963 is estimated at $626,018 thousand, of which $61,056 thousand is derived from 1963 operations. The accumulated net expense of nonpower programs at the end of 1963 is estimated at $260,667 thousand, of which $15,920 thousand is from 1963 operations. Only the power program is intended to be self-supporting; the net expense of nonpower programs is covered largely by appropriations from the Treasury. Payments to the Treasury in 1963 are estimated at $48.5 million—$38.5 million as a dividend (return on the appropriation investment in the power program) and $10 million as a reduction in the appropriation investment in the power program.

The United States Information Agency, by means of communication techniques, submits evidence to peoples of other nations that the objectives and policies of the United States are in harmony with and will advance their legitimate aspirations for freedom, progress, and peace. The intention is to encourage foreign peoples to take action consistent with our national objectives.

The increase of approximately $14.4 million will provide for (a) an additional $9 million for overseas program expenses plus related media and other support services to meet increased costs and to allow some expansion in programs; (b) about $2.1 million for expansion of world-wide television, motion pictures, press and publications, and information center activities; (c) $2.8 million for radio programing and facilities operations; and (d) a net increase of $469 thousand for domestic support activities related to the overall program.

1. Overseas missions.—The program is conducted through 252 posts in 101 countries. The overseas missions carry out country programs designed to present the enduring features of America's traditions, arts, and culture; and to influence local attitudes and actions in support of U.S. foreign policy. These programs are being expanded in critical areas, especially in Africa and Latin America. Overseas missions prepare materials using local facilities whenever possible, but also utilize materials provided by the media services in Washington.

2. Media services.—These services provide support for overseas country programs.

(a) Press and publications service maintains communications facilities for the transmission of editorial and feature materials for adaptation by oversea missions. It produces two monthly magazines titled "America Illustrated," one for distribution in the Soviet Union and one for distribution in Poland; and one bimonthly magazine, Life in America, in Arabic, sold on newsstands throughout the Arab world. The service also operates two regional printing centers and provides oversea missions with printing supplies and equipment.

(b) Motion picture service produces and acquires films which are then translated into as many as 57 foreign languages. It adapts films for specific country or area use, and directs the foreign production, use, and distribution of films. The service also supplies the missions with mobile film units and equipment for showing motion pictures.

(c) Information center service supports U.S. operated libraries, reading rooms, and binational centers, providing them with collections of American publications, both in English and in translations, and with English teaching materials. It assists American publishers in distributing selected products overseas and supports the publication of low-priced books for sale abroad. The service also provides exhibits and visual materials to overseas missions for local display and provides books and periodicals for presentation to selected individuals and groups. Significant program increases contemplate a buildup of book programs, especially foreign language editions; new information centers in Africa and the Near East; exhibits; and binational centers in Latin America.

(d) Broadcasting service in 1963 will produce radio broadcasts in English and in 40 foreign languages, as compared with 38 foreign languages in 1962 and 35 in 1961. Programs originate from the United States and will be broadcast from transmitters at 6 domestic and 9 overseas locations. The service will continue to supply the overseas missions with recorded radio programs and scripts, and with radio supplies and equipment.

(e) Television service acquires and produces television programs for placement on outlets overseas. It also provides guidance to the overseas missions in the production and use of television programs.

3. Research and reference service acquires and prepares reports for use by domestic and oversea establishments in formulating and implementing Agency policies and programs.

4. Cooperative programs with private organizations.—The Agency encourages and coordinates the efforts of private organizations in building an information exchange program between the people of the United States and the people of foreign countries.

6. Administration and staff support includes physical and personnel security functions, legal counsel, central administrative services, and emergency planning.

7. Administrative support.—Administrative services for the Agency's overseas operations, and certain special support services at headquarters, are obtained through reimbursable arrangements with the Department of State.

The purpose of this program, heretofore titled Special international program, is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and those of other lands through suitable U.S. exhibitions in international fairs and other demonstrations of American economic, industrial, scientific, and other cultural attainments.

1. International fairs and exhibitions.—Exhibits are mounted at important international fairs and other strategic locations overseas. In 1961 15 exhibits were mounted. This compares with 13 exhibits in 1962 and 17 in 1963.

2. Labor missions.—Labor missions are sent to selected international fairs and other exhibitions. There were 6 labor missions in 1961; 6 are provided in 1962; and 11 are requested for 1963.

3. Special-purpose exhibitions.—In 1961 three exhibits were undertaken, each to be shown in three locations in the Soviet Union, under a U.S.—U.S.S.R. exchange agreement. As these showings are completed during 1962 and 1963, it is proposed to tour the exhibits in other countries of East Europe. Three more exhibits for showing in the Soviet Union are proposed for 1963, as well as a special American exhibit for showing in Berlin.

station in Liberia. In addition, construction will begin on the modification of a leased facility in the United Kingdom, housing for personnel in Liberia, a transportable relay station, and the Rhodes relay station. Funds are requested in 1963 for modernization of three existing domestic transmitting facilities.

2. Maintenance and improvement of existing facilities.—Recurring major maintenance and improvements to existing facilities and replacement of worn-out equipment in 1963 will require an increase over the level planned in 1962.

3. Research and development.—Continuing research in engineering development, design of new equipment, and radio propagation techniques are planned with emphasis on problems applying to the Voice of America.

This program enables foreign countries, having a shortage of U.S. dollar exchange, to import American books, periodicals, films, and other informational media through regular commercial channels (22 U.S.C. 1442). Under the program, foreign importers make payments to American exporters in foreign currency. The exporters then exchange their foreign currency for dollars through application to the Agency, in accordance with the terms of each exporter's informational media guarantee contract.

Program.—In 1962 more restrictive criteria for the materials to be covered by this program were adopted. Emphasis is placed on educational, scientific and technical materials. The 1963 estimates provide for the extension of the program to new countries in Africa, Latin America, East Europe and the Far East where U.S. informational materials are extremely scarce. Also program levels in most currently active countries will be increased.

Financing.—The 1963 appropriation request provides $3.7 million for repayment of Treasury notes and $610 thousand for the payment of interest to the Treasury. This will make possible the issuance of $7.2 million in guarantee contracts, an increase of $2.3 million over the 1962 level, and will reduce impairment to the fund by $968 thousand, leaving an estimated total unrestored impairment of $19 million on June 30, 1963. Of the total borrowing authority of $28 million, $20 million in unpaid notes will be outstanding on June 30, 1963; this represents a net reduction of $1.9 million from the estimated amount outstanding on June 30, 1962.

PART II

DETAILED ESTIMATES FOR TRUST FUNDS

EXPLANATION OF ESTIMATES FOR TRUST FUNDS

Part II contains a summary table on trust and deposit funds and detailed schedules and explanatory statements on the various trust funds. It excludes the detail on trust fund programs which require annual action by Congress (shown in part I) and the detail on the District of Columbia municipal government funds (contained in a separate budget volume).

TRUST AND DEPOSIT FUNDS DISTINGUISHED

The funds which are covered in this part of the budget are of two types as follows:

Trust funds are those funds established to account for receipts which are held in a fiduciary capacity by the Government for use in carrying out specific purposes and programs in accordance with a trust agreement or a statute. Within the category of trust funds, there is a subcategory of trust revolving funds, which are trust funds used to carry on a cycle of business-type operations, including certain corporations which are partly owned by the Government and partly by private interests.

Deposit funds are those funds established to account for collections that are either (a) held in suspense temporarily and later refunded or paid into some other fund of the Government, or (b) held by the Government as banker or agent for others, being paid out in lump sums at the direction of the owner. Such funds are not available for paying salaries, expenses, grants, or other expenditures of the Government.

While the transactions in these groups of funds are a part of the financial program of the Government, trust and deposit funds are not fully owned by the Government; hence these transactions are excluded from budget totals.

TRUST FUND RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES

Receipts.—Like budget receipts, trust fund receipts are based upon collections received and deposited, including U.S. Government securities received in lieu of cash and contributions to the trust funds from the general fund. Reported receipts exclude borrowing and the sale or redemptions of U.S. Government securities.

Expenditures.—Like budget expenditures, trust fund expenditures are stated on a checks-issued basis, less refunds collected. The repayment of borrowing and the purchase of U.S. Government securities are excluded from the expenditure figures.

Trust revolving funds.—The small group of funds which constitute trust revolving funds are reported on a net expenditure basis. The collections of trust revolving funds, instead of being taken into the tables as receipts, are deducted from expenditures.

OBLIGATIONAL AUTHORITY FOR TRUST FUNDS

Most trust fund receipts are made available for use by permanent law, without requiring further action by Congress. In a few cases receipts of trust funds can be obligated and expended only in accordance with appropriations enacted by Congress from year to year. Examples are the funds of the U.S. Soldiers' Home and the general municipal revenues of the District of Columbia. In the case of the Highway trust fund, Congress controls expenditures by appropriations annually, but it grants contract authorizations in advance thereof. In a few other cases, the trust receipts are permanently available for program purposes, but Congress imposes annual limitations on administrative expenses.

DEPOSIT FUND EXPENDITURES

Deposit fund expenditures are shown in the summary table for this part of the appendix, but are not shown in the details. These expenditures are on a net basis; that is, the collections are deducted from checks issued, and the resulting figure is shown as an expenditure. Checks issued include transactions to move money into other funds, as well as refunds and the return of money to depositors. When the collections are larger than the gross expenditures, the amount shown as an expenditure is a negative item.

DETAIL OF TRUST FUND ESTIMATES

The detailed material in part II covers the trust funds which do not require annual action by Congress. Consolidated schedules are used for the smaller trust funds of each bureau or independent agency.

The material here follows the general format of the similar material in part I, with the principal exception that these schedules show receipts in place of showing appropriations. In cases where the receipts are not permanently appropriated as the money is collected, the schedules identify the portion of the unobligated balances on hand which is appropriated and the portion which is unappropriated. Also, no appropriation language appears here, and the narrative statement of program and performance usually consists only of an explanation of the sources of money for the fund, the purposes for which it is authorized to be spent, and the legal citations.

This schedule covers two principal accounts—permanent loan and bequest of Gertrude M. Hubbard.

Both funds represent gifts or bequests in cash, which have been deposited with the Treasurer of the United States as permanent loans to the United States, the interest upon which, at 4% per annum, payable semi-annually, is available to the Librarian for the purposes specified in each case.

As of June 30, 1961, the principal in the permanent loan account, which shall not exceed the sum of $5 million (2 U.S.C. 15S; 31 U.S.C. 725s), was distributed as follows (in thousands of dollars):

The additional principal sum of $20 thousand, representing the bequest of Gertrude M. Hubbard, is for the purchase of engravings and etchings (37 Stat. 319).

The use of the income from these accounts is described under Library of Congress gift and trust fund income accounts.

This fund is used to pay annuities to eligible widows and dependent children of deceased judges of the United States, to make refunds to former judges who elected to come under the Judicial Survivors Annuity System but who have left the service, and to pay claims of survivors of member judges for any unpaid amounts credited to the individual accounts of such judges (28 U.S.C. 376).

On June 30, 1961, there were 350 judges participating in the system which is exactly the same number participating as of June 30, 1960. Judicial participation remained the same notwithstanding an increase in the number of judgeship vacancies from 13 at the beginning of the year to 22 at the end of the year. However, on June 30, 1961, there were only 41 nonparticipants as compared with 44 a year ago.

There were 131 survivor annuitants on the roll as of June 30, 1961, as compared with 129 at the close of the previous year. Although the number of annuitants on the rolls has remained at approximately the same level during the past several years, the average annuity during this period has increased. It is expected the average annuity will continue to increase for the reason that future awards to annuitants will be computed on the basis of a higher 5-year average annual salary of judges, whereas, the present roll of survivor annuitants reflects the reduced annuities granted to existing widows at the beginning of the system.

The act of May 19, 1961, Public Law 87-36, created 73 additional judgeships, 10 circuit and 63 district. The estimates for 1962 and 1963 take into account the additional revenue expected by reason of the participation of judges appointed pursuant to this act.

1. Advances, Foreign Assistance Act.—Payments are received from foreign nations for defense articles and defense services which the U.S. military departments transfer from their stocks or procure under contract. In most cases, cash payments are made before delivery. However, when determined by the President to be in the best interests of the United States, payments for deliveries of material from stock may be made within a reasonable time after delivery, not to exceed 3 years. Normally, this period is limited to 120 days. In the case of new procurement, the foreign governments must advance sufficient funds to meet required contract payments and, in addition, must provide the United States with a dependable undertaking to assure that no loss will accrue to the United States in case of contract cancellation or termination (22 U.S.C. 2315).

2. Philippine assistance.—By agreement with the Philippine Government, the Agency for International Development acts as its agent, utilizing dollars advanced by the Philippines to procure commodities for them (22 U.S.C. 2151).

3. Technical assistance, U.S. dollar advances from foreign governments.—Funds advanced by foreign countries are used to pay some local costs of development programs in those countries in accordance with bilateral agreements (22 U.S.C. 2151).

¹ Balances of selected resources are identified on the statement of financial condition.

These funds are administered by the Farmers Home Administration, under agreements with 39 individual States, for use in carrying out titles I and II of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act. In these States, operating type loans are made at 5% interest. In some States, real estate type loans are made from these funds and insured under the regular Farmers Home Administration insured loan program at 5% of which not less than one-half of 1% represents an insurance charge that is retained by the Government. The entire assets of the 39 State corporations are being administered by the Farmers Home Administration, with the exception of $13.4 million representing the partial return of cash and other assets at face value to 18 of these States for rural rehabilitation purposes agreed upon between each corporation and the Federal Government. The entire assets of four other State rural rehabilitation corporations have been returned to those States.

In connection with the insurance of loans and mortgages which are for construction, reconstruction, or reconditioning of vessels, and which are financed by sale of bonds to the general public, section 1111, Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (73 Stat. 272, 273), authorizes the Secretary of Commerce to accept deposits in escrow of the proceeds from such sale of bonds, together with interest due to the bondholders.

Funds so deposited are to be used to make payments becoming due (a) on the construction, reconstruction, or reconditioning of the vessels, (b) for interest on the loan or mortgage, or (c) payments on account of principal in cases of default. Investments of the fund may be made in obligations of the United States with any income realized paid to the borrower or mortgagor.

Establishment of the fund was authorized by Public Law 86-127 (73 Stat. 272). Through September 30, 1961, $59,517 thousand had been deposited into the fund covering construction of 10 vessels. No additional deposits into this fund are projected in this estimate.

Under the Federal old-age and survivors insurance system, workers, employers and self-employed individuals make annual contributions in the form of taxes on earnings toward the benefits which will be payable when the worker retires or when he dies. An amount equal to the annual contributions is deposited in this trust fund for benefit payments and administrative expenses. Any excess of income over outgo together with annual interest is invested in Government securities (42 U.S.C. 401).

Payments are made between this trust fund and the Railroad retirement account so as to place this fund in the same position in which it would have been if railroad employment after 1936 had been included in social security coverage (45 U.S.C. 228E).

1. Benefit payments.—The Social Security Act provides disability insurance benefits for certain disabled individuals and their dependents. An amount equal to one-half of 1% of wages paid and three-eighths of 1% of self-employment income is deposited to this fund for benefit payments and administrative expenses. The excess of income over outgo and annual interest are invested in Government securities.

2. Administration.—The Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare determines, at the end of each year, that portion of the administrative expenses of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare which is a proper charge to this fund. The amount shown herein for the administrative expenses includes interest on the unpaid charges and is subject to further refinement of the processes for allocating costs between the Federal old-age and survivors insurance trust fund and the Federal disability insurance trust fund (42 U.S.C. 401).

Payments are made between this account and the Railroad retirement account so as to place these funds in the same position in which they would have been if railroad employment had been included under social security coverage.

These facilities are of benefit to the Government as well as to the customers and serve to promote greater efficiency on the system, reduce loads on existing facilities, and improve service to customers. Also, non-Federal groups advance funds for relocating facilities of the Administration as required for highway construction and other purposes. (50 Stat. 736.)

nanced by special State payroll taxes. These tax receipts are deposited in the Unemployment trust fund and are invested in Government securities until needed for benefit payments. The expenses of State and Federal administration, (including those of the Federal-State employment service), are paid from the fund out of revenue from the Federal unemployment tax, assessed on employers, of 0.4% of the first $3 thousand of wages. A detailed explanation of these administrative expenses appears on pages 573-577. In 1961 and 1962, benefits were extended up to an additional 13 weeks because of the recession and Federal taxes were increased temporarily to pay these benefits. Advances were made from the Treasury to finance the benefits (see p. 577 for details) until the revenue was available, and repayment of Treasury will commence in 1963.

Both the benefit payments and administrative expenses of the separate unemployment insurance program for railroad employees are paid from the Unemployment trust fund and receipts from the tax on wages of railroad employees are deposited in the fund to meet these expenses. During 1961 and 1962 the duration of benefits was also extended under this program, and the financing arrangements were similar to the extended program of the Federal-State system.

On June 30, 1961, the cash balance of $5,752,571 thousand was distributed as follows among the various accounts maintained in the fund (in thousands of dollars):

State accounts.....	5,721,907
Railroad unemployment insurance account:
Benefits and refunds.....	3,944
Administrative expenses.....	4,923

Federal extended compensation account.....	10,883
Employment security administration account.....	5,943
Federal unemployment account.....	1,396
Unappropriated receipts.....	593
Total.....	5,752,571

Legislation was proposed in 1961 to improve the Federal-State unemployment insurance system by increasing the amount and duration of benefits, closing gaps in the coverage of the system, and providing for a more equitable distribution of the tax burden among employers, and is still pending before the Congress. A supplemental estimate for 1963 is anticipated for separate transmittal.

These trust funds consist of amounts received from employers for the death of an employee where no person is entitled to compensation for such death and for fines and penalty payments. In 1961 receipts were $11 thousand and interest was $24 thousand (33 U.S.C. 908; 31 U.S.C. 725; 33 U.S.C. 944). Receipts are used to pay additional compensation for second injuries resulting in permanent total disability and to provide maintenance for employees undergoing vocational rehabilitation. In addition, under the subactivity Administration of rehabilitation, provision is made for the costs of necessary rehabilitation services not otherwise available to disabled longshoremen and harbor workers.

The fund is maintained through (a) contributions by participants, including all Foreign Service officers and eligible Foreign Service staff officers and employees, of 6.5% of their basic annual salaries; (b) interest on investments; and (c) Government (employer) contributions from appropriated funds. Government contributions were in the form of a specific appropriation for that purpose through 1961. Beginning in 1962, Government contributions will match participant contributions and will be paid from the same appropriations from which salaries are paid.

It is estimated that approximately 929 annuitants will be paid retirement benefits from this fund during 1963 compared with 746 at the end of 1961 and 847 at the end of 1962. Gratuities represent payments made to Foreign Service officers in classes 4, 5, 6, and 7 who are selected out of the Service.

The secondary market operations of the Federal National Mortgage Association were authorized by the Housing Act of 1954 to provide limited liquidity for Government insured and guaranteed mortgages and to improve the distribution of investment capital available for home mortgage financing. Mortgage purchases and short-term loans secured by FHA-insured and VA-guaranteed mortgages under these operations are financed by the proceeds from (1) the sale of obligations to private investors, or to the Secretary of the Treasury (the Secretary of the Treasury may not at any one time hold more than $2.25 billion of such obligations), (2) subscriptions by the Secretary of the Treasury to FNMA preferred stock ($92.8 million was authorized in 1955, $50 million in 1957, and $65 million in 1958), (3) mandatory subscriptions to the Association's common stock by mortgage sellers and by borrowers, (4) the sale of mortgages to the investing public, (5) repayments and prepayments of mortgage principal, and (6) income from operations. Government management is intended to be transitional, to be succeeded by private operations when the Government's investment is retired. The present interim program, financed by private as well as by Government investment funds, is treated as a trust fund. Operations are discussed in part I of this document in connection with the program's general fund financing and effect on budget expenditures.

This fund was established in 1940 as the financing mechanism for World War II servicemen's and veterans' insurance program authorized by the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940. Over 22 million policies were issued under this program of which about 5.2 million, totaling approximately $34 billion, remain in force. Because issuance of new policies was ended in 1951 the insurance in force will continue to decline. The general decline in the activity of the fund is indicated in the following table (dollars in millions):

The assets of the fund, which are largely invested in special Treasury interest-bearing securities and in policy loans are expected to increase from $6,151 million as of June 30, 1961, to $6,394 million as of June 30, 1963. The actuarial estimate of policy obligations as of June 30, 1961, totals $5,955 million, leaving a balance of $195 million for contingency reserves.

The income of the fund derives from premium receipts, interest on investments, and payments which are made to the fund from the appropriation Veterans insurance and indemnities, for claims (1) resulting from extra hazards of the veterans' service, and (2) arising on certain policies held by personnel on active duty. Administrative expenses are charged to the appropriation General operating expenses.

The fund is operated on a commercial basis to the greatest possible extent consistent with law. In the program and financing statement above, the noncash transactions, which are offset by other claims of the fund, are excluded from program costs in order to show obligations of the fund. The following business-type statements of revenue and expense and financial condition include these noncash transactions relating to the status of insurance policy accounts.

This fund is used to pay annuities to retired employees or their survivors, to make refunds to former employees who have left the service, and to pay claims for employees who have died before retirement or before their annuities are paid in full (5 U.S.C. ch. 14). It is estimated that as of June 30, 1963, there will be 662,176 persons on the annuity roll, compared with 559,064 as of June 30, 1961, and 608,615 as of June 30, 1962. Beginning in 1963, administrative expenses of this program are proposed to be paid from the fund rather than from appropriations.

While income still exceeds outgo, the long-range projections for this fund indicate that payments will exceed income in the future and the Government will need to supplement its current practice of only matching employee deductions. A proposal for this purpose has been made.

This fund finances the payment of subscription charges to approved carriers of the costs of health benefits protection as provided by the Federal Employees Health Benefits Act of 1959 (Public Law 86-382, 73 Stat. 713), together with expenses incurred by the Civil Service Commission in administration of the act.

Budget program.—The act provides that beginning in 1962 the Employees health benefits fund will be available to pay for administrative expenses incurred by the Commission, within such limitation as may be specified by the Congress. Almost 1.8 million employees and approximately 38 thousand annuitants are participating in this program. By the end of 1963 it is estimated that an additional 90 thousand eligible employee and survivor annuitants will participate in the program. For 1963, it is estimated that $224 million will be deposited into the fund by employees and annuitants and $134 million will be contributed by the Government, while $344 million will be paid from the fund compared with $306 million paid in 1961 and $324 million in 1962. For each health benefits plan, an amount not to exceed 3% of the contribution is set aside to provide a contingency reserve. In addition an amount not to exceed 1% of all contributions is set aside for administrative expenses.

Financing.—The fund will be financed by contributions from participants and the Government.

Operating results.—Earnings will be retained to meet the cost of administration and future benefits.

This fund finances the payment of group life insurance premiums to private insurance companies under the Federal Employees' Group Life Insurance Act of 1954 (5 U.S.C. 2091–2103) and any expenses incurred by the Civil Service Commission in administration of this act as annually authorized by Congress.

Budget program.—Through June 30, 1961, with respect to the basic insurance program, a total of $506.9 million was withheld from the salaries of covered employees and $253.5 million was contributed by the Government to the fund. It is estimated that in 1963, $90 million will be paid into the fund by employees and $45 million by the Government. As of June 30, 1961, a total of $455 million had been paid by the insurer in benefits. It is estimated that over $110 million in benefits will be paid in 1963.

Most of the difference between receipts and benefit payments under the policy is placed by the insurer in a contingency reserve which is used primarily to pay benefits accruing to the survivors of retirees—a group which will rapidly increase as more insured employees reach retirement age. On June 30, 1961, the end of the last completed policy year, there was a total reserve of $300.4 million of which $120.6 million was held as a special contingency reserve by the insurer at interest, and $179.8 million was on deposit in the Treasury of the United States. The contingency reserve is limited to a level of $100 million, and the amount above this figure held by the insurer was returned in July 1961 and deposited in the Treasury of the United States to be invested.

A summary statement of the operations of the contingency reserve for the three most recent policy years, 1959 through 1961 and the total at the end of the seventh policy year follows:

¹ By amendment to group policy 17,000G, the 7th policy year ended June 30, 1961. Policy years thereafter will be from July 1 through the subsequent June 30.

Through June 30, 1961, individuals whose beneficial life insurance agreements have been assumed by the fund paid $13.5 million into the fund. It is estimated that in 1963 about $3 million will be paid into the fund by this group. Former members of beneficial associations continue to pay premiums according to the rate schedules in effect at the time their life insurance agreements were assumed by the fund, but the Government makes no current contributions to the fund for these individuals as it does for employees covered under the regular program.

There has been established a contingency reserve to be held by the insurer at interest under the policy covering members of beneficial associations. This reserve, which was estimated to be $750 thousand on June 30, 1961, will accumulate interest consistent with that provided under the regular program. The Commission will determine a limitation for the contingency reserve, and the amount above this figure held by the insurer will be returned and deposited in the Treasury of the United States to be invested.

Financing.—Premium costs are met by withholding from the salaries of employees 25 cents biweekly for each $1 thousand life insurance, contributions by the Government, and direct premium payments from beneficial association members.

Operating results.—Earnings are retained to meet the cost of future benefits.

¹ Balance of selected resources are identified on the statement of financial conditions.

This fund established in accordance with the Retired Federal Employees Health Benefits Act (74 Stat. 849) finances (1) the payment of subscription charges to an approved carrier for those qualified employees and survivors who enroll in the uniform Government-wide health benefits plan; (2) the contribution to qualified employees and survivors who retain or purchase non-government-approved health insurance plans; and (3) the payment of expenses incurred by the Civil Service Commission in the administration of the act.

Budget program.—The health benefits were effective on July 1, 1961. The act authorized the Commission to use money from the employees' life insurance fund through 1962, for administrative expenses. For 1963, however, the amount available for administrative expenses is limited to 2% of Government contributions as set forth in the act.

It is estimated that there will be approximately 261,000 participants in 1963, compared with the 236,300 retired employees who were enrolled in the plan as of June 30, 1961. During 1963, at least $28.4 million will be deposited in the fund, as compared with $27.9 million in 1962. Participating retired employees will pay at least $13.9 million and the Government will pay $14.4 million. It is estimated that at least $21.7 million in subscription charges will be paid to the carrier of the Government-wide plan, and $6.4 million to annuitants for their private health insurance plans.

Financing.—The fund will be financed by contributions from those participants enrolled in the Government-wide plan and by Government contributions for 1963.

Operating results.—There will be a $200 thousand surplus in the fund at the end of 1963, as compared with $100 thousand in 1962. This is the interest earned on investments held during the years 1962 and 1963 but liquidated periodically to meet obligations.

This fund serves as a clearinghouse for payments by U.S. communications companies and other telecommunications users, including the Federal Government, to foreign governments for receiving and relaying radio-telephone and radiotelegraph messages. The charges of foreign governments against U.S. users are received by the Commission and billed to the users. The Commission then consolidates and disburses all telecommunications payments to a particular government.

The National Capital Housing Authority operates the low-rent public housing program in the District of Columbia under the authority of the Housing Act of 1937 and title II of the District of Columbia Alley Dwelling Act (48 Stat. 930). The 1963 program consists of the operation of 7,877 dwelling units and the development of 1,126 additional units. Management and development operations are financed through rental income, loans, and annual contributions. There is no debt service on Federal projects conveyed to the Authority for low-rent use; all other projects are permanently financed through the sale of Housing Authority bonds which are supported by the pledge of the Public Housing Administration to pay annual contribution equal to the debt service less any excess operating receipts over operating expense.

Under the railroad retirement system, workers and employers pay taxes on wages to finance benefits which will be payable when the worker retires or dies. These taxes are deposited in this trust fund and invested in Government securities bearing interest of at least 3%. Supplemental estimates for 1963 are included here and detailed under proposed for separate transmittal.

Income.—The income of the Railroad retirement account consists of taxes paid by railroad employers and employees; interest on investments; repayments on amounts loaned to the Railroad unemployment insurance account; and payments from the Federal old-age and survivors insurance trust fund and the Federal disability insurance trust fund. The railroad retirement system has a reinsurance arrangement of financial interchanges with the social security system so as to place these systems in the same position in which they would have been if railroad employment had been included in social security coverage.

Budget program—1. Retirement and survivor benefit payments.—Payment estimates reflect the continuing growth in the beneficiary rolls.

2. Administrative expenses.—Such expenses are subject to annual limitations in appropriation acts (see Limitation on salaries and expenses, Railroad Retirement Board, in pt. II of the budget).

3. Loan to Railroad unemployment insurance account.—The Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act provides that when the balance in the Railroad unemployment insurance account is insufficient to pay benefits due under that act, necessary amounts are to be borrowed from the Railroad retirement account. When the balance in the Railroad unemployment insurance account permits, borrowed amounts are to be repaid to the Railroad retirement account, with interest at 3% per annum.

The Board administers an unemployment and sickness insurance system and an employment service to find jobs for unemployed railroad workers. The administrative expenses are shown as a separate account in the Unemployment trust fund and are financed through a permanent authorization of 0.2% of taxable payroll. As of each June 30, the unobligated balance in this fund in excess of $6 million is transferred to the Railroad unemployment insurance account in the Unemployment trust fund (45 U.S.C. 361).

1. Maintenance of earnings accounts.—The amounts of insurance payments for unemployment, sickness, and maternity benefits are based upon individual records of earnings and daily wage rates. This workload fluctuates with the level of employment in the railroad industry, rates of turnover, and similar factors. The costs are shared on a measured basis with the retirement program. Accounts posted were 1,180 thousand in 1961 and are estimated at 1,100 thousand in 1962 and 1,050 thousand in 1963.

2. Processing of unemployment insurance claims.—Workers' claims for unemployment compensation are filed locally and certified for payment through regional offices. Regular unemployment claims were 2,663 thousand in 1961 and are estimated at 2 million in 1962 and 1.5 million in 1963.

3. Processing of sickness and maternity claims.—These claims are filed by mail and certified for payment through the regional offices of the Board. Sickness claims were 854 thousand in 1961 and estimated to be at about the same level in 1962 and 1963.

4. Claimant placement services.—The Board conducts an employment service for unemployment benefit claimants. This resulted in savings in benefit payments of approximately $2.3 million in 1961 as 32,800 placements were made. With an improvement in general economic conditions it is estimated that 40,000 placements will be made in 1962 and 46,000 in 1963.

5. Administration.—The costs of administration are shared between this and the retirement program on a measured basis.

PART III

PERSONNEL COMPENSATION SCHEDULES

EXPLANATION OF PERSONNEL COMPENSATION SCHEDULES

The schedules which show the detail of personnel compensation are furnished to the Congress pursuant to section 204 of the Budget and Accounting Act, 1921 (31 U.S.C. 581). The number of positions of a permanent or an indefinite duration is shown; amounts are given for these, and for other types of employment and personnel compensation.

For the position figures, any position is counted if it is occupied or will be occupied at any time during the year. Therefore, the number of positions shown may exceed the maximum number of positions at any one time, and nearly always exceeds the maximum number of employees at any one time due to delays in filling vacancies, leave without pay, and similar factors.

Grades and their respective salary ranges are reflected in the stub column; the most commonly used grade series, the general schedule grades, is abbreviated "GS-....." Titles are shown for positions with a base rate of $12,210 or above. Salaries are reported at the rate effective for the greater part of the year. Since within-grade salary advancements occur at various times during the year, the rates shown will not be exactly equal to the compensation earned, but the difference is taken up in the "Deduct lapses" line. That line also covers savings due to vacancies, etc., and is offset in part by terminal annual leave payments.

Separate entries cover employment in positions other than permanent (temporary and intermittent employment). Other obligations for personnel compensation are also detailed. Because most annual salaries are by law the rate for 52 weeks, an additional entry covers the extra earnings whenever there are regular workdays above the 52-week base. For employees with a Monday-through-Friday workweek, there was 1 extra day in 1961, but there will be none in either 1962 or 1963.

The final amounts in these schedules agree with corresponding entries in the object schedules of parts I and II. In cases where a consolidated schedule in part III contains personnel compensation which is reflected in two or more object schedules, a distribution by account title follows the total line.

The schedules in this part of the appendix, like the object schedules of parts I and II generally, exclude estimates which are proposed for later transmittal. Such exclusions relate to a number of items of proposed legislation affecting 1963 and occasionally 1962, a number of supplemental estimates which are presently forecast under existing legislation, and the use of such amounts as are currently estimated in the allowances for pay legislation and contingencies.

PART IV

PASSENGER MOTOR VEHICLE AND AIRCRAFT STATEMENTS

EXPLANATION OF PASSENGER MOTOR VEHICLE AND AIRCRAFT STATEMENTS

The statements on passenger motor vehicles and aircraft are furnished to the Congress pursuant to section 16 of the Administrative Expenses Act of 1946 (5 U.S.C. 78).

Passenger motor vehicles include four major types—automobiles, station wagons, buses, and ambulances. The statements show the number to be purchased in the coming year, divided between those which are replacements for vehicles presently owned, and those which are additions to the fleet. Cost information includes the estimated gross, the amounts to be realized from the disposition of vehicles being replaced, and the net. The number of currently owned vehicles to be continued in use is shown separately. The cost of hire is shown with separate columns for hire from interagency motor pools

(such as those operated by the General Services Administration) and from commercial sources. Figures on the cost of hire exclude reimbursements to other agencies for bus or taxi service, and reimbursements to employees for use of their vehicles or for taxicab fares. As required, the statements identify the public purposes for which the figures are intended, and the officers and employees by whom they are to be used.

The statements on aircraft are similar to those on motor vehicles, except that they show estimates for maintenance and operation costs and omit estimates for hire, in accordance with the law.

Combat and technical vehicles and aircraft of the Armed Forces are omitted.
